President Okays Action To End Jet Plant Strike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson ordered court action today to end a strike of about 6,000 General Electric employees at an Evendale, Ohio plant which produces jet engines for planes in the Viet Nam War.

Announcement of the action was made by the White House which said the President had cabled his instructions from Honolulu early this morning to Deputy Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark.

The White House said no immediate action is planned against strikers at other GE plants where walkouts occurred Monday. But a spokesman said the Defense Department is watching events closely to determine if any other war production is slowed by the strikes.

The Justice Department arranged to seek a temporary restraining order in the U.S. District Court for Southern Ohio in Dayton.

This is the second time Johnson has involved the Taft-Hartley injunction procedure. A court order Oct. 1, 1964, halted a walkout of International Longshoremen's Association members along the Atlantic and Gulf coasts.

The action could send the strikers back to work for 80 days.

About 30,000 employees of the company have struck over local issues despite a contract agreement which averted a company-wide strike during the weekend.

At one key plant, 6,000 workers were out at GE's Evendale, Ohio, plant where jet engines are made for F4 Phantom fighter planes used in Viet Nam.

Johnson sent his instructions from Honolulu, where he is starting a Far Eastern tour, after receiving a report of a special board he named Monday to look into the strike situation.

Once Around Roundtown

MRS. FRANK Woodward Jr. has announced that the Canned Goods Department of the 60th Annual Pumpkin Show will be located on E. Main St. in the building formerly occupied by the Circleville Hardware Store.

PICKAWAY County Commissioners yesterday directed letters to two of the loveliest girls in the state of Ohio. They are Debbie Ankrom, reigning queen of the Ohio Festivals Assn., and Shaura Humphrey, past queen of the association.

The two past Pumpkin Show queens are Logan Elm High School students.

TED LEWIS will be here Thursday, according to Pumpkin Show Vice President Ned Harden. Ted will arrive in Columbus Wednesday evening, but won't make it to his home town until Thursday. He will be guest in Thursday parades, Harden noted.

GEORGE Gentzel, 210 Lancaster Pike, has a unique "canned" product that doesn't fit into any of the classes of competition in the Pumpkin Show's canned goods department.

The product is "pickled catsup." The "catsup" is a full-size tomato inside a catsup bottle filled with alcohol. Gentzel wouldn't disclose his secret for getting the tomato inside the bottle, but left it on display at the Herald offices.

Leaders To Testify

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Several state officials, agricultural educators and leaders of rural organizations will testify Wednesday and Thursday before the 16-member Policy Development Committee of the Ohio Farm Bureau Federation.

The committee will then form recommendations for submission to the delegates next month at the 48th annual meeting of the federation.

Cong Unleashes Extensive Round of Terror Attacks

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The Viet Cong cut loose today with terrorists attacks from Saigon to the northern border area. The U.S. command announced resumption of air attacks on the eastern end of the demilitarized zone.

In five grenade, mine and shooting attacks, terrorists took at least eight lives and wounded 62 persons, including five U.S. servicemen.

In one attack, mines derailed a train. In another, a grenade in a movie house killed or wounded 51 Vietnamese.

The U.S. air bombardment of North Viet Nam was sharply reduced Monday for the third straight day by monsoon rainstorms. But U.S. headquarters reported nine bombing missions against Communist positions in the demilitarized zone, including one against a storage area on the eastern end of the zone.

This was the first U.S. strike east of Highway One since the American command last Friday said it might end the bombing pause it had called in the eastern sector two weeks before.

U.S. B52 bombers staged two raids in South Viet Nam Monday night. The giant planes returned for a third day to bomb suspected North Vietnamese troop concentrations in the central highlands 35 miles south-west of Kontum City. Other eight-engine bombers hit at a

Reams Lists Program for Road Safety

CLEVELAND (AP) — State Sen. Frazier Reams Jr., Democratic candidate for governor, told a news conference today that he has a nine-point plan for highway safety in Ohio.

"Ohio is headed for the highest yearly traffic toll in its history," Reams said, "while the man who should be leading the campaign for safety on our highways does nothing."

"It is possible to make our highways and rural roads safe for the people of Ohio. Safety engineers know that a dedicated campaign of education, engineering and enforcement can cut the accident rate dramatically. But in the last three and one-half years, there has been no serious effort dedicated to that end."

"The result is that we have had steadily rising death rates, and Ohio last year moved from 5th place in the nation to 4th in traffic fatalities. I hope (Gov. James A.) Rhodes is proud of that distinction."

Reams told newsmen he proposed a nine-point program for traffic safety.

"It includes a reinforced highway patrol, strongly stepped up safety and driver education and sterner inspection and licensing procedures," he added.

Tidal Wave Alert Sounded, Later Lifted in Honolulu

HONOLULU (AP) — Thousands of persons evacuated low-lying homes around the Pacific Ocean basin Monday night because of a tidal wave alert that proved unnecessary.

The Coast Guard lifted the alert at 4:30 a. m.

Alerts were broadcast following the violent earthquake in Peru and lifted after four hours of tension when the wave failed to appear.

President and Mrs. Johnson were in Honolulu at the start of a trip to Pacific and Asian countries when the alert came. High in a hotel they were not disturbed.

When the quake-caused wave reached Oahu Island just after midnight it was barely discernible. At Hilo on Hawaii Island gauges showed a rise of four inches.

Coast Guardsmen in San Francisco advised by the U.S. Coast and Geodetic Survey in Hawaii lifted the alert.

There was no report on the U.S. west coast of any unusual tidal action.

At Crescent City, Calif., residents were ordered five blocks back from the coast as officials recalled the March 1964 wave that smashed most of the city's ocean-front business and killed a score of persons.

In the California communities of King Salmon, Samoa, Fairhaven and Manila all near Eureka and Crescent City between evacuated to higher ground.

At Canon Beach and Seaside on the northern Oregon coast asked to evacuate and the Coast Guard said most complied going to gymnasiums and National Guard camps.

Alerts went out also in Washington State and in Alaska. The Washington alert was canceled at 4:45 a. m.

Hours after the time predicted if a wave was to come the Coast Guard reported no unusual tidal activity from San Diego northward.

President and Mrs. Johnson were overnight guests in sixth-floor suite at the Royal Hawaiian Hotel just off Waikiki Beach when sirens sounded the alert at 8:30 p. m.

The islands have been under alert status several times in past years but waves have never been large except in 1961.

In that year a massive wave generated by an earthquake in Chile shattered the business district of Hilo capital city of Hawaii Island 200 miles southeast of Honolulu and killed 62 persons.

U.S. Navy ships at Pearl Harbor remained at their berths but moorings were loosened to allow them to ride increased swells.

Cuban Commies Expected To Denounce U.S. Moves

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Cuba's Communist government was expected to denounce U.S. military movements from Guantanamo to Viet Nam today in its annual policy statement before the U.N. General assembly.

Veteran Foreign Minister Raul Roa was to outline Prime Minister Fidel Castro's aims and policies. The Cuban declaration usually boils down to a blast against the United States as the foe of freedom in Latin America and in other underdeveloped areas.

The U.S. naval base at Guantanamo Bay has been a favorite target of the Cubans.

Roa was expected to press again for the seating of Communist China in the United Nations despite charges from Peking that Cuba is siding with the Soviet Union in the ideological dispute between the two Communist powers.

The United States came under sharp attack from Cambodia Monday in the assembly policy debate. Ambassador Huot Sambath charged that no colonial conquest of the past century "has been as ferocious as the invasion of South Viet Nam by the United States."

He said the peace plan presented before the assembly by U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg could not "make us forget the military brutality now going on in Viet Nam."

A charge of Zionism was hurled at Goldberg Monday in the Security Council debate on the Israeli-Syrian border dispute.

JFK's Body To Be Moved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Corps of Army Engineers contradicting other Army sources said today the body of President John F. Kennedy would not be moved to a new gravesite until next year.

Previous word was that the remains would be moved about 40 feet to a new location sometime within five weeks after darkness has settled on the hills of Arlington National Cemetery.

Tha indicated that the reburial would take place by Nov. 22 the third anniversary of the young president's assassination.

However the office of the chief of engineers said in a statement today:

"The final landscape design proposal for the gravesite area is being developed by the landscape architect. As we have explained the gravesite will not be completed formally until next spring."

"The transfer of the graves is related to the planting and appropriate hillside grading. No transfer there fore is anticipated this year."

The reburial is expected to take place at night after the cemetery has closed to insure privacy.

Kennedy's body and those of his two children who died in infancy, Patrick Bouvier Kennedy and baby girl Kennedy, will be moved to a permanent grave site now nearing completion.

The prime consideration in relocating the late president's grave was to place it in a direct axis line with the Lincoln Memorial and the Washington Monument across the Potomac River in the nations capital.

Work on the $2-million grave site began about a year ago in an area adjacent to the three grass-covered graves which are surrounded by a low, white picket fence.

Millions have visited Kennedy's temporary grave, where an eternal flame has flickered day and night since his burial.

The flame will be included in the permanent grave site, marble and granite memorial with a circular walkway 210 feet in diameter.

Father Desires To Be Female

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Richard C. Nelson, father of two, hopes to become a woman.

Nelson, 31, filed a court petition Monday asking permission to change his name to Roberta. The petition said he hopes to undergo treatment and an operation which will transform his sex to female.

His attorney, John V. Snee, told Allegheny County Common Pleas Court that Nelson's body has undergone changes.

Nelson is the father of a boy and a girl. His wife divorced him this year. A hearing on the petition was set for Nov. 17 by Judge John P. Hester.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary of Ohio's weather:

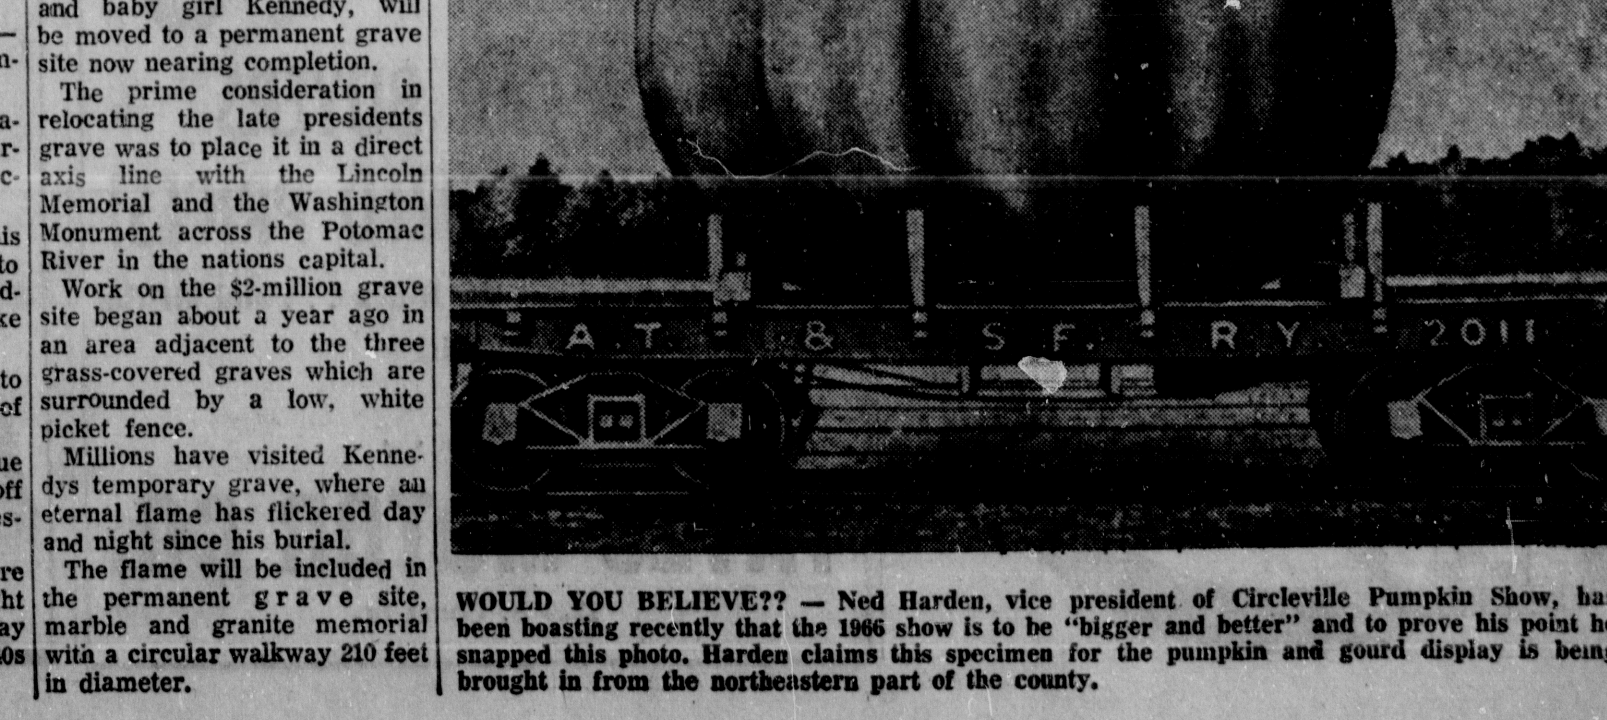

Skies cleared and temperatures dropped into the 30s during the night, with light frost occurring in some areas.

Cloudiness returned early this morning and rain moved into the state. The rain was preceded by snow in the Chesapeake area.

Temperatures had risen into the 40s over the western half of the state by dawn.

Rain was forecast to continue today and tonight, tapering off to scattered showers on Wednesday.

High temperatures today were to be mostly in the 50s. Tonight will not be as cold as Monday night with readings in the 40s expected. Winds will be light.

Toll Is High; Tidal Wave Fear Eased

LIMA, Peru (AP) — The death toll from a violent earthquake along Peru's central coast climbed toward 100 today as the earth shock sent a train of tidal waves rolling toward Hawaii and parts of the U.S. West coast.

Unofficial reports told of 83 dead, at least 1,000 injured and unknown numbers homeless, but the count was far from complete. Many spent the night in the streets.

The severe quake 7.6 on a scale with a maximum of 9, rocked and terrorized the coastal area for about a minute and a half Monday afternoon.

Thousands ran screaming into the streets, village plazas and other open areas as buildings shook and crumbled. Women knelt in prayer while brick and wood cascaded around them.

In Hawaii, where President Johnson spent the first night of his Asian tour at a hotel on Waikiki Beach, civil Defense officials said tidal waves caused by the quake were expected to hit the islands. There was no thought of moving the President and the First Lady from their sixth-floor suite, well out of any danger from the waters.

The U.S. Coast Guard in Los Angeles warned that seismic sea waves might hit the California coast.

Rhodes Reviews State Spending

LOGAN, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes told campaign audiences in southeastern Ohio today that $621,797,000 in state money will have been spent in Ohio's 28 Appalachia counties by 1970.

Rhodes spoke here and at McArthur this morning and was scheduled to make talks later in the day at Gallipolis, Pomeroy and Marietta.

He said the state has invested $174 million in new and improved highways since 1963 and said another $343 million is committed for highway purposes.

The governor added that $114 million is being invested to expand educational facilities and airports in southeastern Ohio along with $23 million for parks and recreational facilities.

Rhodes said "there is not a single county in Ohio that can be described as depressed" but added that there are several "underdeveloped" because of years of neglect and the lack of a far-sighted industrial program.

Since January, 1963, he said 96 new manufacturing plants have located in the 28 counties with capital investments totaling $452 million.

Ground fighting continued on a small scale, with only scattered engagements reported.

The largest of the terror attacks was a grenade thrown into a movie theater in Quang Tri City, provincial capital of South Viet Nam's northernmost province. Vietnamese headquarters reported six civilians were killed and 45 wounded.

Terrorists mined a train this morning 31 miles northeast of Saigon, derailling the locomotive and three freight cars and wounding the engineer.

Closer to Saigon, two terrorists on a motorbike tossed a grenade at a bus stop on the outskirts of the city and wounded five U.S. servicemen. The terrorists escaped.

The weather limited American air blows against North Viet Nam Monday to 85 bombing missions, a little more than half the daily average in recent week. U.S. fliers concentrated on Communist barge traffic along the coast and reported damaging or destroying 28 cargo craft.

U.S. pilots flew 469 sorties over South Viet Nam Monday and claimed damage or destruction of 466 Viet Cong huts, storage areas, camps and fortified positions. South Vietnamese pilots flew 156 sorties.

Viet Nam Topic Top Moscow Item

MOSCOW (AP) — Viet Nam was a top topic in Moscow today as leaders of the Soviet bloc gathered to discuss the war and the dispute with Red China.

Vague hints circulated through foreign embassies that the Soviet Union may have Hanoi's approval to begin moving toward a Viet Nam settlement and had called the week-long meeting to coordinate this with its allies.

There was no confirmation of that, however, and diplomats said the Communists probably would produce a tough statement on Viet Nam for propaganda purposes even if the underlying trend is toward peace.

Attending the Communist conference are Bulgaria's Todor Zhivkov, Cuba's Osvaldo Dortico and Raul Castro, Czechoslovakia's Antonin Novotny, East Germany's Walter Ulbricht, Hungary's Janos Kadar, Mongolia's Umzhagin Tsedenbal, Poland's Wladyslaw Gomulka and Romania's Nicolae Ceausescu, plus Soviet host leaders Leonid I. Brezhnev and Alexei N. Kosygin.

The visiting Communist chiefs also are expected to see Soviet cosmonauts launched into orbit Thursday.

Informants in London reported that British Foreign Secretary George Brown was confident that the Soviet Union would actively support Viet Nam peacemaking efforts of the United States stopped bombing North Viet Nam. Brown recently had several talks in New York with Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko.

The Soviet hosts and their visitors are to fly to Novosibirsk Wednesday, Communist sources said. That in an industrial city in Siberia noted for its scientific research center.

Goldberg said that Tomeh should have distinguished between speeches he made before he was appointed ambassador to the United Nations in July 1965 and statements he now made as a U.S. representative in the world organization.

Time Bomb Report Is Termed 'Hoax'

Circleville Police, Sheriff Dwight Radcliff and General Electric officials today are certain the report of a time bomb in the local GE plant is a hoax.

Shortly before noon yesterday, GE switchboard operator Betty Courtwright answered a call and heard a voice saying there was a time bomb in the plant set to explode at 3:45 p. m.

Over 500 first shift workers were sent home at 1 p. m. yesterday and a search conducted of the plant. Engineers and supervisory personnel assisted local law enforcement officials and Fire Chief Bernard Wolf with the search.

When nothing was found and no explosion occurred, second shift workers were called in at 4:45 p. m.

LAST NIGHT, a note was found in the women's locker room at the plant, saying the bomb would explode before midnight today.

When the second notice was discovered, E. G. Grigg, plant superintendent posted a notice, telling employees they had an option of either remaining at work or going home today.

Most of the workers elected to stay on the job. Grigg said GE officials have posted a $1,000 reward for information leading to the arrest or convictions of the person or persons responsible for the false report.

Toll Is High; Tidal Wave Fear Eased

The severe quake, 7.6 on a scale with a maximum of 9, rocked and terrorized the coastal area for about a minute and a half Monday afternoon.

Thousands ran screaming into the streets, village plazas and other open areas as buildings shook and crumbled. Women knelt in prayer while brick and wood cascaded around them.

In Hawaii, where President Johnson spent the first night of his Asian tour at a hotel on Waikiki Beach, civil Defense officials said tidal waves caused by the quake were expected to hit the islands. There was no thought of moving the President and the First Lady from their sixth floor suite, well out of any danger from the waters.

The U.S. Coast Guard in Los Angeles warned that seismic sea waves might hit the California coast.

Among the special plans for free government transport into Sydney for children under 17; a million "Hooray for LBJ" stickers and ticket tape strips, free distribution of thousands of American flags and the release of 10,000 balloons.

"There is a real danger that these hysterical stunts may backfire, embarrassing everyone, including President Johnson," said the Daily Mirror.

Woman Sues Pumpkin Show

An accident at the 1964 Pumpkin Show has resulted in a $25,000 lawsuit filed Monday in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

Mildred S. Cramer, Columbus, filed the legal action against Pumpkin Show Inc. and the Gooding Amusement Co.

The plaintiff said that she fell over a cable stretched across a downtown sidewalk on Oct. 21, 1964. In the fall, she allegedly suffered injuries to her knees and head.

Mrs. Cramer also claims that a pre-existing diabetic condition was made worse by the fall. The petition states that her daily dosage of 30 units of insulin had to be increased to 50.

Medical bills to date, as a result of the accident, total about $300, the petition says, and Mrs. Cramer anticipates further medical expenses and surgery on a knee that was injured in the fall.

The Columbus firm of Burchfield, Smith and Nelson represents Mrs. Cramer.

Africans Say Offer to RFK Not Issued

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (AP) — The South African Foundation said today it had issued no invitation to Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, D-N.Y., to visit South Africa next year.

Kennedy announced in Washington Monday he plans a return trip to South Africa next summer at the foundation's invitation.

However, a foundation spokesman said there is "no substance in the statement that Kennedy had been invited." He added there are no plans to issue an invitation.

Officials of the foundation, a private organization of business and professional men which seeks to improve South Africa's image abroad, entertained Kennedy on his visit to South Africa last June.

Without an invitation from some south African group, it might be difficult for Kennedy to make the visit. He was invited last June by the multiracial National Union of South African Students.

Kennedy announced his plans after conferring with the Rt. Rev. Clarence E. Crowther, U.S. citizen who is bishop of an Anglican diocese in South Africa. Bishop Crowther said Kennedy's first visit was helpful opponents of South Africa's apartheid — racial segregation — policy.

Kennedy specifically identified the foundation as the organization that invited him. Other sources later said the invitation had been withdrawn.

City Council President James V. Stanton said Monday Kennedy will be here for two hours between visits to Cincinnati and Toledo.

Marines Tack Extension On Pilots

WASHINGTON (AP) — Too many resignations and not enough trainees — the familiar pilot story thus far in the Vietnam war — have forced the Marine Corps to extend the duty of regular officer aviators for one year.

The Defense Department announced the move Monday and said that some support officers — men in ordinance, motor transport and the engineers also would be ordered to stay on the job.

Officials estimated that about 500 of the 21,500 officers now on active duty would be affected, but emphasized that none of the 6,500 Reserve officers was included in the order.

The mandatory extension is the second in two years for regular Marine officer pilots. They, along with all other regular officers, were held on the job in August, 1965, but were permitted to resign last month.

Officials acknowledged that many pilots quickly had taken advantage of the chance to get out of service. One source said at least 125 fliers had resigned last month — most of them to join the airlines.

The Navy has similar problems. Two weeks ago it ordered an estimated total of 300 fliers and 700 other key officers to remain in their jobs for another year.

It was learned Monday that the Marine Corps will seek funds to train 200 additional pilots next year. This year it expects to produce 525 new aviators.

Despite the shortcomings, the services make clear that they are meeting all Viet Nam needs.

Congressman Here Friday

The office of Congressman Robert E. Sweeney today confirmed that the Ohio Congressman will make an appearance at the Circleville Pumpkin Show.

Sweeney, who is presently serving as Ohio's congressman at-large, is the Democratic nominee for attorney-general of Ohio.

His schedule for the Friday visit is as follows: 1:30 to 2:30 p.m., meeting with the Pickaway Ministerial Society; 2:30 to 3:30 p.m., Pickaway County Democrat Headquarters, 121 E. Main St.; 3:30 to 3:45 p.m., presentation of flag to Circleville High School at Court and Main Sts.

He will also be a special guest in the 8 p.m. parade on Friday evening.

$5,000 Bond Set by Judge

James Parker Harley, Columbus, apprehended by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department two weeks ago when he broke into Wayne Jones' television shop near Meade, was bound to the Pickaway Grand Jury today.

Harley entered a plea of innocent to the charge of grand larceny filed by the sheriff's department.

Judge Sterling Lamb ruled there was sufficient evidence to warrant a grand jury hearing. He set bond at $5,000.

Lancaster Man Bound to Jury

Bill Miller, Lancaster, was bound to the next session of the Pickaway County Grand Jury under $500 bond.

Miller was charged with issuing a check when he had insufficient funds in the bank.

Memorial Hall Ownership Is Questioned

The Pickaway County Commissioners have been asked by the Pickaway Monumental Assn. to seek a ruling concerning jurisdiction of Memorial Hall.

Although the building and the real estate on which it is situated is owned by the county, the Monumental Association has for years handled the management of the building.

The county annually appropriates money for the building maintenance. But rent paid by the county library for space in Memorial Hall is paid to the Monumental Association.

Commissioners and the library board are investigating the possibility of obtaining state and federal funds to erect a new library building.

However, the question of ownership and management of Memorial Hall must first be settled before any action can be taken, the Monumental Association members feel.

Leonard Coffland is president of the association. Robert Liston is secretary. Other board members are George Helweg, Edgar Haynes and Carl Radcliff Sr.

"Easy-Fixin' Sausage Adds To Week-End Fun," Says Bob Evans

"Come and get it," farmer Bob Evans seems to be saying as he makes a Farm Boy Sausage Sandwich. Or if you prefer, there's spaghetti and sausage meat balls or smoked links.

One reason for the increased eating of Bob Evans Farms Sausage these crisp days is that fall is fun time, Bob believes.

"Sausage is such easy fixin' and so time saving," says the well-known Ohio farmer. "Folks want to get away to the football game, to the Sunday paper or TV set; off to the golf course, or take a drive through the colorful countryside.

"Whether it's for hearty breakfasts, meaty sandwiches, cook outs or easy-to-prepare main meals, sausage stretches the food dollar and provides hearty eating any time.

"During fall months we usually see the production of Bob Evans Farms Sausage increase nearly every day at our three farm locations in Ohio and Michigan. Then it's rushed by refrigerated trucks right to the stores."

Woman Sues Pumpkin Show

An accident at the 1964 Pumpkin Show has resulted in a $25,000 lawsuit filed Monday in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

Mildred S. Cramer, Columbus, filed the legal action against Pumpkin Show Inc. and the Gooding Amusement Co. The plaintiff said that she fell over a cable stretched across a downtown sidewalk on Oct. 21, 1964. In the fall, she allegedly suffered injuries to her knees and head.

Mrs. Cramer also claims that a pre-existing diabetic condition was made worse by the fall. The petition states that her daily dosage of 30 units of insulin had to be increased to 50.

Medical bills to date, as a result of the accident, total about $300, the petition says, and Mrs. Cramer anticipates further medical expenses and surgery on a knee that was injured in the fall.

The Columbus firm of Burchfield, Smith and Nelson represents Mrs. Cramer.

Congressman Here Friday

The office of Congressman Robert E. Sweeney today confirmed that the Ohio congressman will make an appearance at the Circleville Pumpkin Show.

Sweeney, who is presently serving as Ohio's congressman at-large, is the Democratic nominee for attorney-general of Ohio.

His schedule for the Friday visit is as follows: 1:30 to 2:30 p.m., meeting with the Pickaway Ministerial Society; 2:30 to 3:30 p.m., Pickaway County Democratic Headquarters, 121 E. Main St.; 3:30 to 3:45 p.m., presentation of flag to Circleville High School at Court and Main Sts.

He will also be a special guest in the 8 p.m. parade on Friday evening.

$5,000 Bond Set by Judge

James Parker Harley, Columbus, apprehended by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department two weeks ago when he broke into Wayne Jones' television shop near Meade, was bound to the Pickaway Grand Jury today.

Harley entered a plea of innocent to the charge of grand larceny filed by the sheriff's department.

Judge Sterling Lamb ruled there was sufficient evidence to warrant a grand jury hearing. He set bond at $5,000.

Lancaster Man Bound to Jury

Bill Miller, Lancaster, was bound to the next session of the Pickaway County Grand Jury under $500 bond.

Miller was charged with issuing a check when he had insufficient funds in the bank.

Memorial Hall Ownership Is Questioned

The Pickaway County Commissioners have been asked by the Pickaway Monumental Assn. to seek a ruling concerning jurisdiction of Memorial Hall.

Although the building and the real estate on which it is situated is owned by the county, the Monumental Association has for years handled the management of the building.

The county annually appropriates money for the building maintenance. But rent paid by the county library for space in Memorial Hall is paid to the Monumental Association.

Commissioners and the library board are investigating the possibility of obtaining state and federal funds to erect a new library building.

However, the question of ownership and management of Memorial Hall must first be settled before any action can be taken, the Monumental Association members feel.

Leonard Coffland is president of the association. Robert Liston is secretary. Other board members are George Helwage, Edgar Haynes and Carl Radcliff Sr.

"Easy-Fixin' Sausage Adds To Week-End Fun," Says Bob Evans

"Come and get it," farmer Bob Evans seems to be saying as he makes a Farm Boy Sausage Sandwich. Or if you prefer, there's spaghetti and sausage meat balls or smoked links.

One reason for the increased eating of Bob Evans Farms Sausage these crisp days is that fall is fun time, Bob believes.

"Sausage is such easy fixin' and so time saving," says the well-known Ohio farmer. "Folks want to get away to the football game; to the Sunday paper or TV set; off to the golf course, or take a drive through the colorful countryside.

"Whether it's for hearty breakfasts, meaty sandwiches, cook outs or easy-to-prepare main meals, sausage stretches the food dollar and provides hearty eating any time.

"During fall months we usually see the production of Bob Evans Farms Sausage increase nearly every day at our three farm locations in Ohio and Michigan. Then it's rushed by refrigerated trucks right to the stores."

Eagles in the Sunset?

Once virile, now sterile. Is that to be the fate of the American bald eagle? This is the migrating time for eagles. Now, as in recent years, the ornithologists whether professional or amateur report that few immature eagles are being sighted from such a noted flyway observation point as Hawk Mountain, Pa. There's an alarming scarcity of young birds at nesting sites. One competent student of the species fears 80 per cent of the eagles in Florida are sterile. This is no time in American history for the avian symbol of the country to fall victim to some mysterious agent of doom. For years great efforts have been made to protect the bald eagle from human killers. The federal law protecting him inflicts a heavy fine on a destroyer. One theory for the apparent increase in sterility is that insecticides are to blame. Nobody has ever offered a convincing explanation as to why the passenger pigeon vanished suddenly. In past eons it's true that many species of life died out. Many did so where climates changed radically, but is that the whole answer? It isn't the ornithologists and bird watchers alone who can feel concern at the story of the eagles. If there are indeed new factors inducing sterility in one species, it is not beyond imagination that they might induce it in other species — including the mammal man. Who wants man to go the way of the eagle, if the eagle is going the wrong way?

The Business World

By John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP)—Once considered the solace of wealthy, coupon-clipping widows, corporate and municipal bonds now are beginning to accumulate in the safe deposit boxes of middle-income investors. The reasons are safety and yield. Bonds have a long record of security, most of them coming through the Great Depression without default. Their yield, or interest, is the highest in years. And tax exemptions on some make the rate even higher. Tight money is spurring improving bond yields. Some banks, which had been big buyers of municipal bonds, appear to be selling now to raise cash for high-return business loans. Lewis Schellbach, senior vice president of Standard & Poor's Corp., believes a trend has begun—that the investors with small and middle-size incomes will continue to include bonds with stocks in their portfolios. "There are more of them buying bonds now than ever before," he said. "They'll stay with bonds, too, once they realize the beauty of them — the safety and the yield." Since a bond represents debt, or money you have lent a government or company, the ability to repay determines the rating. A stock, on the other hand, represents ownership in a corporation. Good municipal bonds now yield the buyer around 3.80 per cent interest. Since these bonds generally are used to build public facilities such as sewers or water systems, they are tax free. Corporate bonds also offer high interest. The best rates now average about 5.40 per cent

—one of the best returns to be found ever without any tax benefits. Assuming you have the proper knowledge, advice and money, you may approach the situation by telling the broker the quality and maturity you wish to buy. Bonds are not as easy to purchase as are stocks. If you buy a bond you usually hold on to it for five to 30 years. There is little turnover, and the average broker seldom pushes them. Bonds also come in much larger denominations than stocks. Typically they have a face amount of $1,000, although a few denominations may be in multiples of $100. When the term of the bond is completed, the days of interest are over. The issuer redeems the security at its face value by returning your original investment. Your reward for the loan has been the interest.

Rod Taylor Is Exception

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Gratitude is as rare among movie stars as shyness is among flag-pole sitters. An exception is Rod Taylor, the buoyant and charmingly boisterous Australian. "We're lucky to be around — us young punks," he said. "But I don't believe in luck in our industry. "Luck makes people disrespectful and supercilious. Us young ones become smug too early. If you don't try hard enough, you don't last long enough." Rod's own heroes are Clark Gable, Humphrey Bogart, and Spencer Tracy. "They were great stars because they worked hard," he said. "And no one has taken their place. "I'm not being insincere. People call me a movie star, but I know I don't deserve it yet." But the ruggedly handsome actor, who recently completed "The Liquidators," was being unduly humble. At 36 his talent and industry have put him in the front rank of his profession. In 1954 a prize-winning performance in Australia won him a plane ticket to London. Cannily, Rod stopped off at Hollywood, where the producers pounced on him with glad cries. Since then Taylor has made 23 films, popular television series, "Hong Kong," and graduated himself to the status of producer as well as actor. When he plays there is nobody who likes to play harder than Taylor, and nobody who likes to work harder when he's on the job. He brings a fine breezy zest to anything he does. "Without being artsy-crafty about it, which I'm not," he remarked, "I am very conscious of my duty to entertain. "For some strange reason I love to do it, and I am paid an enormous sum of money to do it, and unless I do the job well I feel blankety-blank guilty." Taylor has no overlay of sophistication. He is musically proud of being Australian. "The only security an Australian has if he isn't intellectually brilliant," he said smiling, "is the knowledge that, when in doubt, and if he needs to, he can always knock you on your ears. He can always retreat to that." Everybody is afraid of something in this "age of anxiety." What is Rod Taylor afraid of? "Death is all I can think of," he replied. "I've got a lot of problems, but I love every crowded second of life. If you're an athlete you don't think anybody can beat you, and I'd like to live forever."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

A 24-year-old man awoke one morning unable to move his right arm and hand. There was no previous injury or illness to account for this sudden paralysis. Within 24 hours neurological examination, bone and -ray studies failed to show any evidence of disease; that is, physical disease. But there was disease, psychological disease, that had to be uncovered before this young man was again able to function normally and to move his arm completely. It was disclosed to a psychologist that this young man had developed tremendous fear about a new job that had been offered to him in his factory. Although he was eager to accept the job he felt totally insecure that he would not be able to fulfill its requirements. A sudden psychologic paralysis of the arm automatically relieved him of his terrible anxiety. He now could comfortably reject the job without being embarrassed. So subtle is the relationship between the mind (psyche) and the body (soma) that there is no separation between the two. The body and mind work together and depend on each other for the total health of the total human being. This is the basis for psychosomatic medicine. In health and in disease the union between the body and the psyche can never be separated. Body disease is called by a variety of names—organic, physical or somatic. These are one and the same. Psychic disease, too, has other names like functional or emotional. Psychic factors, emotional stress and tensions alone can produce physical disease. A great modern scientist, Hans Selye, has repeatedly shown that many changes in the body start with the emotions. When organic disease is not caused by psychic difficulty it almost always carries with it some overtone of emotional distress. One simply does not exist without the other. Physicians everywhere are now trained to recognize and understand the tie between physical and emotional factors in all of their patients. This concept of psychosomatic medicine helps the patient to make a quicker and more complete recovery. Sometimes it takes tremendous effort to clarify a medical problem because the two factors are so closely knit. To return to our story, the young man was given the opportunity to unburden himself of his fears about the new job. When it was pointed out that the job would wait for him until he was emotionally ready, the paralysis of the arm began to disappear within 48 hours. It must be explained that there were many other psychologic disturbances that had to be understood before he again took his place as a normal, healthy, productive person. It is no shame to seek help and guidance for an emotional problem. Yet, many people who would not hesitate to see a doctor for a cough or an intestinal condition avoid facing their need for psychological direction. "Why didn't you call and ask me to pick you up at the station?"

Try and Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

IN THE DAYS when Khrushchev was Mr. Big in the Soviet Union, he often admitted that Stalin treated him occasionally like a court jester or clown and ordered him, "Dance the Gopak." "And," Khrushchev would add, "I danced." Somebody in the crowd would always cry out, "Why did you let him make a fool of you?" and Khrushchev would demand sternly, "Who asked that question?" Inevitably, nobody answered, and after the appropriate pause, Mr. K. would conclude, "That, comrades, is why I danced."

A few baseball oddities recorded by the late Frank Graham: Connie Mack's Athletics played through the five games of the 1910 World Series without a single substitution—not one pinch hitter, runner, or relief pitcher! . . . Charley McCoy of Fort Worth, Texas, made 31 errors in one game in 1932 . . . In one game in 1906, only one baseball was used in a complete 9-inning game between Chicago and Cincinnati . . . Bobo Newsom, pitching both ends of a double-header, walked the first four batters in game one, then started the nightcap by striking out the same four.

An elephant who had been a steady customer at a neighborhood bar for months suddenly dropped out of sight, then just as suddenly lumbered back to the eight bar stools he was wont to occupy. "Where you been, Big Boy?" demanded the bartender. The elephant answered, "I've been on the circus wagon."

Sleeper in New York Campaign By John Chamberlain

The "sleeper" in the New York State political campaign is the referendum on Mayor John Lindsay's so-called "external" police review board. The major party candidates, Governor Nelson Rockefeller of the Republicans and his Democratic challenger, Frank O'Connor, are nervous in their required support of the board, with Rockefeller doing his level best to play it down as an issue without repudiating it. The Liberal Party candidate for governor, Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr., has, of course, to be for the board, which leaves the Conservative Party nominee, Dr. Paul L. Adams of the upstate Robert Wesleyan College, the sole man in the field who is vocally against the idea of letting civilians act as Monday - morning quarterbacks on the performance of individual policemen.

Just how this will affect the struggle between Rockefeller and O'Connor is a matter for much argument. If you believe in the efficacy of labels, it should hurt Rockefeller more than it hurts O'Connor. For Republican conservatives who are against supporters of the civilian review board have an alternative choice in the Conservative Party slate. On the other hand, the Democrats and the Liberals have no comparable, ideologically motivated choice, which, on the face of it, would leave O'Connor and Franklin D. Roosevelt Jr. right where they were before the review board referendum was placed on the ballot.

Appearances here, however, could be deceptive. For the Patrolmen's Benevolent Association, which did so much to corral the signatures needed to get a November referendum vote on the review board idea, has thousands of supporters among good democrats in the New York City area. This is the apostate liberal group that gave the conservative magazine publisher, William Buckley, such an unexpectedly big vote in the New York City mayoralty election last Fall. If its members desert Frank O'Connor on the police review issue they will assuredly vote for the Conservative's Dr. Adams and his running mate, Kieran O'Doherty, who, as candidate for Lieutenant Governor, is concentrating his extremely vocal efforts on his native bailiwick of New York City. Votes taken away from O'Connor in this way will help Rockefeller, just as some of the apostate Democratic vote for Buckley helped Lindsay against the Democrats' Abe Beame. Since the Conservatives want especially to hurt Rockefeller, this introduces an anomalous element into their campaign. But they want also to replace the Liberal Party in the Number Three slot on the ballot, and the police review board issue gives them an excellent chance to do just this.

The fact is that the idea of letting civilians second-guess individual policemen, who are sworn to do their duty impartially, was always a stupid idea. Nobody can work well with a special club over his head. The Negroes and Puerto Ricans of New York City are by no means one hundred per cent for it; in fact, the biggest Spanish language newspaper in the New York metropolitan area, "El Tiempo," has come out against it. And, speaking in Philadelphia, no less a liberal than Vice President Hubert Humphrey recently attacked the concept of the review board before a group of police officials. To cap the liberal defection from Mayor Lindsay's pet idea, Walter Gellhorn, prominent Columbia University law professor who has always been an extreme civil libertarian, has objected to the sort of review board that turns any particular controversy over alleged brutality "into a dispute between a particular citizen and a particular policeman." Professor Gellhorn advocates a "broader approach," which amounts to supporting a stric-

Eagles in the Sunset?

Once virile, now sterile. Is that to be the fate of the American bald eagle?

This is the migrating time for eagles. Now, as in recent years, the ornithologists whether professional or amateur report that few immature eagles are being sighted from such a noted flyway observation point as Hawk Mountain, Pa.

There's an alarming scarcity of young birds at nesting sites. One competent student of the species fears 80 per cent of the eagles in Florida are sterile.

This is no time in American history for the avian symbol of the country to fall victim to some mysterious agent of doom. For years great efforts have been made to protect the bald eagle from human killers. The federal law protecting him inflicts a heavy fine on a destroyer. One theory for the apparent increase in sterility is that insecticides are to blame.

Nobody has ever offered a convincing explanation as to why the passenger pigeon vanished suddenly. In past eons it's true that many species of life died out. Many did so where climates changed radically, but is that the whole answer?

It isn't the ornithologists and bird watchers alone who can feel concern at the story of the eagles. If there are indeed new factors inducing sterility in one species, it is not beyond imagination that they might induce it in other species — including the mammal man.

Who wants man to go the way of the eagle, if the eagle is going the wrong way?

The Business World

By John Cuniff

NEW YORK (AP)—Once considered the solace of wealthy, coupon-clipping widows, corporate and municipal bonds now are beginning to accumulate in the safe deposit boxes of middle-income investors.

The reasons are safety and yield. Bonds have a long record of security, most of them coming through the Great Depression without default. Their yield, or interest, is the highest in years. And tax exemptions on some make the rate even higher.

Tight money is spurring improving bond yields. Some banks, which had been big buyers of municipal bonds, appear to be selling now to raise cash for high-return business loans.

Lewis Schellbach, senior vice president of Standard & Poor's Corp., believes a trend has begun—that the investors with small and middle-size incomes will continue to include bonds with stocks in their portfolios.

"There are more of them buying bonds now than ever before," he said. "They'll stay with bonds, too, once they realize the beauty of them — the safety and the yield."

Since a bond represents debt, or money you have lent a government or company, the ability to repay determines the rating. A stock, on the other hand, represents ownership in a corporation.

Good municipal bonds now yield the buyer around 3.80 per cent interest. Since these bonds generally are used to build public facilities such as sewers or water systems, they are tax free.

Corporate bonds also offer high interest. The best rates now average about 5.40 per cent

—one of the best returns to be found ever without any tax benefits.

Assuming you have the proper knowledge, advice and money, you may approach the situation by telling the broker the quality and maturity you wish to buy.

Bonds are not as easy to purchase as are stocks. If you buy a bond you usually hold on to it for five to 30 years. There is little turnover, and the average broker seldom pushes them.

Bonds also come in much larger denominations than stocks. Typically they have a face amount of $1,000, although a few denominations may be in multiples of $100.

When the term of the bond is completed, the days of interest are over. The issuer redeems the security at its face value by returning your original investment. Your reward for the loan has been the interest.

Rod Taylor Is Exception

By Hal Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Gratitude is as rare among movie stars as shyness is among flag-pole sitters.

An exception is Rod Taylor, the buoyant and charmingly boisterous Australian.

"We're lucky to be around — us young punks," he said. "But I don't believe in luck in our industry."

"Luck makes people disrespectful and supercilious. Us young ones become smug too early. If you don't try hard enough, you don't last long enough."

Rod's own heroes are Clark Gable, Humphrey Bogart, and Spencer Tracy.

"They were great stars because they worked hard," he said. "And no one has taken their place."

"I'm not being insincere. People call me a movie star, but I know I don't deserve it yet."

But the ruggedly handsome actor, who recently completed "The Liquidators," was being unduly humble. At 36 his talent and industry have put him in the front rank of his profession.

In 1954 a prize-winning performance in Australia won him a plane ticket to London. Cannily, Rod stopped off at Hollywood, where the producers pounced on him with glad cries.

Since then Taylor has made 23 films, popular television series, "Hong Kong," and graduated himself to the status of producer as well as actor.

When he plays there is nobody who likes to play harder than Taylor, and nobody who likes to work harder when he's on the job. He brings a fine breezy zest to anything he does.

"Without being artsy-crafty about it, I'm not," he remarked, "I am very conscious of my duty to entertain."

"For some strange reason I love to do it, and I am paid an enormous sum of money to do it, and unless I do the job well I feel blankly-blank guilty."

Taylor has no overlay of sophistication. He is muscularly proud of being Australian.

"The only security an Australian has is if he isn't intellectually brilliant," he said smiling, "is the knowledge that, when in doubt, and if he needs to, he can always knock you on your ears. He can always retreat to that."

Everybody is afraid of something in this "age of anxiety." What is Rod Taylor afraid of?

"Death is all I can think of," he replied. "I've got a lot of problems, but I love every crowded second of life. If you're an athlete you don't think anybody can beat you, and I'd like to live forever."

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

By LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

A 24-year-old man awoke one morning unable to move his right arm and hand. There was no previous injury or illness to account for this sudden paralysis. Within 24 hours neurological examination, bone and x-ray studies failed to show any evidence of disease; that is, physical disease.

But there was disease, psychological disease, that had to be uncovered before this young man was again able to function normally and to move his arm completely.

It was disclosed to a psychologist that this young man had developed tremendous fear about a new job that had been offered to him in his factory. Although he was eager to accept the job he felt totally insecure that he would not be able to fulfill its requirements.

A sudden psychological paralysis of the arm automatically relieved him of his terrible anxiety. He now could comfortably reject the job without being embarrassed.

So subtle is the relationship between the mind (psyche) and the body (soma) that there is no separation between the two. The body and mind work together and depend on each other for the total health of the total human being. This is the basis for psychosomatic medicine.

In health and in disease the union between the body and the psyche can never be separated. Body disease is called by a variety of names—organic, physical or somatic. These are one and the same. Psychic disease, too, has other names like functional or emotional.

Psychic factors, emotional stress and tensions alone can produce physical disease. A great modern scientist, Hans Selye, has repeatedly shown that many changes in the body start with the emotions.

When organic disease is not caused by psychic difficulty it almost always carries with it some overtone of emotional distress. One simply does not exist without the other.

Physicians everywhere are now trained to recognize and understand the tie between physical and emotional factors in all of their patients. This concept of psychosomatic medicine helps the patient to make a quicker and more complete recovery.

Sometimes it takes tremendous effort to clarify a medical problem because the two factors are so closely knit.

To return to our story, the young man was given the opportunity to unburden himself of his fears about the new job. When it was pointed out that the job would wait for him until he was emotionally ready, the paralysis of the arm began to disappear within 48 hours.

It must be explained that there were many other psychological disturbances that had to be understood before he again took his place as a normal, healthy, productive person.

It is no shame to seek help and guidance for an emotional problem. Yet, many people who would not hesitate to see a doctor for a cough or an intestinal condition avoid facing their need for psychological direction.

A sound mind in a sound body is essential for personal happiness and sustained good health.

See a doctor early in pregnancy to insure a healthy baby at birth.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court is picking its fights very carefully this year.

The story of the first two "decision Mondays" of the new term is a decided disinclination to do battle on new frontiers. This passivity is especially striking in view of the Warren court's 13-year history of "activism."

There have been some notable exceptions. Among them: agreement to examine jury selection in the South and to decide whether city officials may inspect private property without search warrants.

Also, some important pleas have not been acted on yet. For instance: a Maryland appeal asking that the stamp of constitutionality be put on state aid for construction a church-related colleges.

But, in the main, the court's response to calls for review in significant and controversial areas of the legal battleground has been a terse "no."

The net effect is to leave lower court decisions standing. Also, and perhaps more important, because the justices did not give their reasons, to leave lower courts somewhat in the dark.

Two cases in point: Monday's refusals to rule on chronic alcoholism and on whether the right to counsel applies in misdemeanor trials.

Two of the 11 U.S. Circuit Courts have explicitly held that chronic alcoholic may not be criminally punished for public drunkenness alone. In the other circuits the legal pattern is mixed, with procedures sometimes varying from city to city and from town to town.

But only Justices Abe Fortas and William O. Douglas wanted to step in — and it takes the votes of four justices to hear a case.

In March 1963, the high court revolutionized state trial procedures by declaring that "any person hailed into court, who is too poor to hire a lawyer, cannot be assured a fair trial unless counsel is provided for him."

But does his and follow-up decisions mean that in all state trials — for misdemeanors as well as felonies — defendants must be supplied with lawyers?

In an Arkansas case the State Supreme Court held the ruling does not apply in misdemeanor trials. The U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans has held that it does.

But here, too, only two justices — Potter Stewart and Hugo L. Black — wanted to grant review.

Presumably, the conflict and confusion will continue. Other controversies the court has steered clear of include: an attack on the Electoral College system of choosing U.S. presidents; the California Supreme Court's reversal of a voter-applied law on pay television for homes; the power of state legislatures to keep assertedly obscene books from teen-agers.

In some instances, the court may come back another day and find conditions ripe for a declaration from the highest court in the land. But, at the moment, it's hands off.

'Tilton Hilton' Chartered for LBJ Coverage

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — The "Tilton Hilton" will get a bar.

"Tilton Hilton" is the name Wellingtonians have affectionately applied to the good ship Hinemoa, which has been chartered by the U.S. government as a floating hotel for 300 pressmen covering President Johnson's visit.

The Hinemoa, a former interisland steamer was up for sale when the embassy hired it. Green and white with an orange-colored funnel, it now bears a 20-foot sign saying "Welcome to Tilton Hilton."

She became the center of controversy when the question of an on-board bar arose. The embassy wanted nothing to do with it since bars are shut by 6 p.m.

Local newsmen and tourist officials petitioned the government saying no bar would mean bad publicity for New Zealand.

Officials finally relented and agreed the bar could open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. But this did not meet with general approval either, so the embassy agreed to open the bar longer since the ship is virtually American territory.

To the joy of journalists, the embassy decided to make the liquor free.

Goldman Kidnap Case Puzzles FBI

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—In the always-locked front door of Aaron Goldman's home there's a peephole, through which a caller can be seen. Inside the house there's a gun.

"It's like locking the barn door," said Sally Goldman.

Once the Goldmans took no such precautions at their home in the fashionable suburb of Surfside. But it was through an unlocked door, that a gunman came in the night last March 28 and kidnaped the Goldmans' son, Danny, 17.

Screaming "Help! Murder!" Danny was dragged away—into oblivion. Nearly seven months later, this is the only unsolved ransom kidnaping on FBI case-books.

Is there a lead left, any hope? "Some day," said an FBI agent, "we'll have to find him. But I've never seen a case like this, and I never expect to see another one."

Jolted awake by the screaming of his wife, Goldman saw the silhouette of a short, stocky man, standing just inside the patio door, holding a gun.

"You cheated me," the figure said softly. "I'm here to get even."

Danny, also awakened, entered the room in his pajamas.

The intruder told him to keep quiet.

"I want $10,000," he said. "I don't keep that kind of money in the house," Goldman replied. "There's $150. You're welcome to that."

The gunman ordered Danny to get dressed, and told Goldman, "The price is $25,000 now and I'll hold the boy as security. If it is not paid by tonight, it will be doubled."

He promised to telephone instructions for payment of the ransom, but the Goldmans still wait. For a month Goldman, a millionaire contractor, kept $25,000 in small bills in the house. Friends have offered $15,000 more for Danny's safe return.

The money is in a place where it can be obtained quickly, Goldman says, and it will be paid with no questions asked to any go-between the kidnaper will select.

"We believe Danny is still alive," Goldman insists. "We must keep believing it."

But Goldman also offers "a small reward" for location of the body. It is small, he says, "so someone wouldn't profit heavily by killing him."

In the faint hope the call still will come, Mrs. Goldman hasn't left the house except for a few brief periods when a sister sat by the phone.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court is picking its fights very carefully this year.

The story of the first two "decision Mondays" of the new term is a decided disinclination to do battle on new frontiers. This passivity is especially striking in view of the Warren court's 13-year history of "activism."

There have been some notable exceptions. Among them: agreement to examine jury selection in the South and to decide whether city officials may inspect private property without search warrants.

Also, some important pleas have not been acted on yet. For instance: a Maryland appeal asking that the stamp of constitutionality be put on state aid for construction a church-related colleges.

But, in the main, the court's response to calls for review in significant and controversial areas of the legal battleground has been a terse "no."

The net effect is to leave lower court decisions standing. Also, and perhaps more important, because the justices did not give their reasons, to leave lower courts somewhat in the dark.

Two cases in point: Monday's refusals to rule on chronic alcoholism and on whether the right to counsel applies in misdemeanor trials.

Two of the 11 U.S. Circuit Courts have explicitly held that chronic alcoholic may not be criminally punished for public drunkenness alone. In the other circuits the legal pattern is mixed, with procedures sometimes varying from city to city and from town to town.

But only Justices Abe Fortas and William O. Douglas wanted to step in — and it takes the votes of four justices to hear a case.

In March 1963, the high court revolutionized state trial procedures by declaring that "any person hailed into court, who is too poor to hire a lawyer, cannot be assured a fair trial unless counsel is provided for him."

But does his and follow-up decisions mean that in all state trials — for misdemeanors as well as felonies — defendants must be supplied with lawyers?

In an Arkansas case the State Supreme Court held the ruling does not apply in misdemeanor trials. The U.S. Circuit Court in New Orleans has held that it does.

But here, too, only two justices — Potter Stewart and Hugo L. Black — wanted to grant review.

Presumably, the conflict and confusion will continue. Other controversies the court has steered clear of include: an attack on the Electoral College system of choosing U.S. presidents; the California Supreme Court's reversal of a voter-applied ban on pay television for homes; the power of state legislatures to keep assertedly obscene books from teen-agers.

In some instances, the court may come back another day and find conditions ripe for a declaration from the highest court in the land. But, at the moment, it's hands off.

'Tilton Hilton' Chartered for LBJ Coverage

WELLINGTON, New Zealand (AP) — The "Tilton Hilton" will get a bar.

"Tilton Hilton" is the name Wellingtonians have affectionately applied to the good ship Hinemoa, which has been chartered by the U.S. government as a floating hotel for 300 pressmen covering President Johnson's visit.

The Hinemoa, a former interisland steamer was up for sale when the embassy hired it. Green and white with an orange-colored funnel, it now bears a 20-foot sign saying "Welcome to Tilton Hilton."

She became the center of controversy when the question of an on-board bar arose. The embassy wanted nothing to do with it since bars are shut by 6 p.m.

Local newsmen and tourist officials petitioned the government saying no bar would mean bad publicity for New Zealand.

Officials finally relented and agreed the bar could open from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. But this did not meet with general approval either, so the embassy agreed to open the bar longer since the ship is virtually American territory.

To the joy of journalists, the embassy decided to make the liquor free.

Goldman Kidnap Case Puzzles FBI

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—In the always-locked front door of Aaron Goldman's home there's a peephole, through which a caller can be seen. Inside the house there's a gun.

"It's like locking the barn door," said Sally Goldman.

Once the Goldmans took no such precautions at their home in the fashionable suburb of Surfside. But it was through an unlocked door, that a gunman came in the night last March 28 and kidnaped the Goldmans' son, Danny, 17.

Screaming "Help! Murder!" Danny was dragged away—into oblivion. Nearly seven months later, this is the only unsolved ransom kidnaping on FBI case-books.

Is there a lead left, any hope? "Some day," said an FBI agent, "we'll have to find him. But I've never seen a case like this, and I never expect to see another one."

Jolted awake by the screaming of his wife, Goldman saw the silhouette of a short, stocky man, standing just inside the patio door, holding a gun.

"You cheated me," the figure said softly. "I'm here to get even."

Danny, also awakened, entered the room in his pajamas.

The intruder told him to keep quiet.

"I want $10,000," he said.

Los Angeles Taking Steps
To Retain Movie Studios

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Are movie studios going to run away from Los Angeles? The city government is alarmed at the prospect and is planning steps to prevent it.

This month the mayor's Economic Development Board took official notice of the situation by appointing a committee to study means of inducing studios to remain in the metropolitan area.

Suggestions for encouragement included zoning advantages and a new studio complex within the city. But its entirely possible that the city will come up with too little too late.

The trend in recent years has been a reduction of film making in Hollywood — a noneographic term since studios are also located in Culver City, Westwood, Burbank, Universal City, and Studio City. Obsolete studios such as Hal Roach's have been leveled for shopping centers, and no new studios have been built.

Several of the big studios are reaching the ripe age of 40 and require extensive overhauls to be modernized. Most are in areas that are heavily taxed. As a result, they have started eyeing future moves to less populated areas. Not incidentally, they hope to escape Los Angeles' smog, which sometimes interferes with outdoor shooting.

Three years ago MGM, 20th Century-Fox and Columbia started the industry by revealing discussions for a combined studio to be built on Fox Ranch in Malibu Canyon. The talks came to naught, but the idea of seeking new quarters for filmmaking was not abandoned.

MGM took an option on 1,500 acres at Conejo, north of the San Fernando Valley, and ordered a feasibility survey on building a new studio there. Preliminary sketches were drawn up, and a construction

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

A Lot to Learn

DEAR ABBY: The other night one of the fellows who works with my husband dropped by unexpectedly with his family. They have a 16-year-old daughter (I'll call her "Jane") who is the age of our oldest daughter. "Jane" spent the entire evening sitting on the arm of my husband's chair.

She had her arm around him, fooling with his hair, playfully fishing in his shirt pockets and generally playing up to him. I was horrified as my children watched this exhibition. Jane's parents acted as though they thought it was cute. When they left I was white with anger.

I will say my husband didn't encourage the girl, but he didn't discourage her either. We can't avoid seeing these people, but I can't take another evening like that one. How can it be avoided without causing hard feelings?

HORRIFIED MOTHER
DEAR ABBY: The girl's mother should have taught her daughter long ago to find playmates her own age. But now that your husband knows how "Jane" behaves, he should good-naturedly keep her at arm's length. No grown man has to put up with that kind of nonsense unless he wants to.

DEAR ABBY: I used to go with a real sweet boy, but I moved away. I tried to make the best of it so I made new friends. Then I got asked to a party by another boy and my first boy friend got real mad. He asked me for his ring and all the love letters he had written to me. I didn't mind giving him back his ring, but I was wondering about the letters.

I know if I send them back to him he will just rip them up because if his mother ever saw those letters he would be in real trouble. I'd like to keep those letters for memories because I loved. What do you suggest?

WANTS MEMORIES
DEAR ABBY: If I were you, I'd rip up the letters because if YOUR mother ever found them, YOU might be in real trouble.

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter (I'll call her Pam) is being married this Christmas and we are planning to give her a lovely big church wedding. Her older sister (I'll call her Sue) was married eight years ago at a very simple wedding because that was all we could afford at the time.

Our problem is that well-meaning relatives have tipped us off that Sue is very hurt because SHE didn't get anywhere near the kind of wedding we are planning for Pam, and we would be wise to hold down the wedding a bit for Sue's sake. Now I am really torn. I love both girls equally and don't want hard feelings in the family. What do you think?

TORN
DEAR ABBY: More hard feelings are caused from "tips" from well-meaning relatives than by just blundering along and doing the best you can with no inside information. Give Pam the best wedding you can afford. That's what you did for Sue.

Los Angeles Taking Steps To Retain Movie Studios

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Are movie studios going to run away from Los Angeles? The city government is alarmed at the prospect and is planning steps to prevent it.

This month the mayor's Economic Development Board took official notice of the situation by appointing a committee to study means of inducing studios to remain in the metropolitan area.

Suggestions for encouragement included zoning advantages and a new studio complex within the city. But its entirely possible that the city will come up with too little too late.

The trend in recent years has been a reduction of film making in Hollywood — a nongeographic term since studios are also located in Culver City, Westwood, Burbank, Universal City, and Studio City. Obsolete studios such as Hal Roach's have been leveled for shopping centers, and no new studios have been built.

Several of the big studios are reaching the ripe age of 40 and require extensive overhauls to be modernized. Most are in areas that are heavily taxed. As a result, they have started eyeing future moves to less populated areas. Not incidentally, they hope to escape Los Angeles' smog, which sometimes interferes with outdoor shooting.

Three years ago MGM, 20th Century-Fox and Columbia started the industry by revealing discussions for a combined studio to be built on Fox Ranch in Malibu Canyon. The talks came to naught, but the idea of seeking new quarters for filmmaking was not abandoned.

MGM took an option on 1,500 acres at Conejo, north of the San Fernando Valley, and ordered a feasibility survey on building a new studio there. Preliminary sketches were drawn up, and a construction cost of $32 million was estimated.

SOUTHEAST OHIO — Rain and not so cool tonight. Low upper 40s. Wednesday mostly cloudy with a chance of showers. High near 60.

Fox, which had to sell its back lot — now Century City — to survive the "Cleopatra" debacle, found itself short of space when the company's fortunes reversed. The management ordered a survey by Stanford Research Institute to determine whether building a new studio was economically sound.

Stanford Research decreed that Fox should stay at the Westwood lot until 1970. The studio has added six new stages to take care of the production overflow. Eventually the entire operation will be shifted to the company's 3,000 acres in Malibu Canyon, a 30-minute drive from the present studio.

With Metropolitan Los Angeles continuing to press on the pioneering studios, it seems ap-

Vo-Ed Study Is Approved By Governor

CINCINNATI (AP) — The State Board of Regents has been told by Gov. James A. Rhodes to get together with business and labor leaders to work out a program of vocational education for Ohio.

"Our attack on solving the problem attendant to train our young people must be two-pronged: We must prepare well qualified teachers and we must turn out skilled workers," Rhodes said.

The governor made his announcement at a Republican appreciation dinner for precinct officers and poll workers. Some 2,000 Republicans attended the dinner in Cincinnati Gardens Monday night.

Rhodes said he would like the regents to work out a plan under which state-supported colleges and universities will help provide trained staff members for vocational courses. He added that enrollment at vocational training schools has doubled since 1962, reaching 88,000 and is expected to double again in four years' time.

Solons Face Busy Week

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — Driving hard for adjournment by Saturday, Congress has crowded into this week's program more major legislation than it has considered in any previous month this year.

Bills dealing with billions of dollars in appropriations and the war on poverty, food for peace, aid to education, public works, water pollution, unemployment compensation, public health, "truth-in-packaging" and urban rehabilitation are carded for final action in the headlong rush to quit.

Prospects were good for all of them to get through before members of Congress end their work in Washington for the year and hurry home for final campaigning in advance of the Nov. 8 elections. There was some talk of quitting Thursday or Friday.

Most big spending bills previously cleared the Senate and the House and are now in compromise form and subject to limited debate.

Working as choir librarians this year are Ceda Miller and Debbie Archer. General managers are Shirley Thompson and Garland Ison.

The halls of Teays Valley High School had the looks of a National Political Convention last week when the campaigning for class officers took place.

Each and every candidate posted signs telling of his qualifications and reasons why he wanted to be a class leader. On Thursday morning the candidates gave speeches before the student assembly.

Voting took place later with the following results:
FRESHMAN: Gale Sawyer, president; Danny Hicks, vice president; Beverly Moody, secretary; Sandy Scothorn, treasurer; Patty Ramey, news reporter; Mr. Welkert and Mr. Drummond are advisers.

SOPHOMORE: Mark Leatherwood, president; Rita Schiebeck, vice president; Debbie Cook, secretary; Debbie Archer, treasurer; Belinda Carpenter, news reporter; Mrs. Galater and Mr. Southward, advisers.

Juniors: Janet Stickel, president; Don Lowry, vice president; Sue Wilson, secretary; Sandra Tosca, treasurer; Linda Hickman, news reporter; Mr. Milam and Mrs. Beavers, advisers.

SENIOR: Ken Daft, president; Jill Butt, vice president; Jim Smith, secretary; Sally Smith, treasurer; Vickie Neff, news reporter; Mrs. Tootle and Mr. Houser, advisers.

The Future Teachers Association held its organizational meeting earlier in the school year. There were 30 members present for the meeting. After the meeting the delegates to Buckeye Girls' and Boys' States held an interesting question and answer discussion.

The new officers for the coming year are president, Dean Barr; vice president Jill Butt; secretary, Nancy Collins; treasurer, Mike Stone; chaplain, Sue Courtwright; historian, Judy Lowry; news reporter, Mike Binion.

The Teays Valley Business Club results of officers of the elections are as follows: Miriam Purcell, president; Janice Harber, vice president; Linda Greene, recording secretary; Kathy Beers, corresponding secretary; Janet Stickel, treasurer; Janice Pettibone, extension officer; Nancy Gray, news reporter.

The new president then officially opened the meeting and appointed committees for making programs for the coming meetings. She then appointed entertainment committees for future meetings.

The club decided to have refreshments only for the Christmas meeting.

SENIOR CLASS

The class elections were held last week. Those running for office were president, Jill Butt, and Kenny Daft with Kenny the winner and Jill as vice president; secretary, Jim Smith, Sue Courtwright, Jeanne Miller and Karen Gulick with Jim winning; treasurer, Sally Smith won over Ben Vause; Vicki Neff became news reporter winning over Rayoma Campbell. The final results were announced at the assembly.

Film on JFK Draws Small Dallas Crowd

DALLAS, Tex. (AP)—A dramatic documentary about President John F. Kennedy has drawn small audiences in this city where he was assassinated almost three years ago.

The movie, "Years of Lightning, Day of Drums," closes tonight after a two-week run.

"I don't think too many people here want to see it yet," said Norman Levinson, manager of the Festival Theater.

"The movie has done fair, but I have been disappointed. I felt it would do better than it did."

The film includes pictures of Kennedy's reception at the Dallas airport and of the motorcade through downtown Dallas when he was assassinated Nov. 2, 1963.

Two preview showings were sold out in the 450-seat theater, but Levinson declined to estimate how many persons saw the film here.

Revival Services Are Continued

New Theory Is Advanced On Tornadoes

Projectiles Would Be Fired into Storm Cloud Mass

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Stopping tornadoes by electrocution is proposed by a scientist who does it with laboratory models.

The theory — untested yet on a real tornado — calls for a cannon to fire many wire-wound projectiles into the tornado cloud, stretching a thin wire two miles or more between positive and negative clouds.

A resulting lightning bolt theoretically could short out and neutralize the electric field in the clouds which created the tornado, explained Dr. Vernon J. Rossow of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Center, Moffett Field, Calif., in a paper today at the 12th Weather Radar Conference at the University of Oklahoma.

After four years of study of storm-cloud forces, Rossow concludes that tornadoes are produced by two large cloud masses of positive and negative charge parallel to each other and about a mile apart.

If a flow of positively charged water droplets begins moving from the positive mass into the negative mass, he said, this usually forces a counterflow of negative droplets as the two masses are mutually attracted.

The counterflowing streams may begin to whirl faster and faster, building rotational speeds as high as 500 miles an hour, according to Rossow's theory. The tornado whirls its destructive path until the charged particle supply runs out.

Four Attend Library Meeting

Four local area representatives of the Pickaway County District Public Library attended sessions of the Ohio Library Assn. recently in Toledo.

Attending the three-day conference were Miss Jessie Cummings, acting librarian; Mrs. John H. Dunlap Jr., Mrs. Kermit Dountz, and Mrs. Stanley Bowers, all trustees of the library board.

Among speakers at the meeting were Joseph F. Shubert, state librarian; and Stanley J. Bowers, tax counsel for the Ohio Library Assn. Bowers presented aspects of financing public library service.

Civilian Anguish Is 'Part of War'

By ROBERT D. OHMAN

QUI NHON, South Viet Nam (AP)—"This is harsh, but this is war," said the spokesman for a division of the 4,500 Korean troops in Viet Nam.

"We recognize that this is a pity for the civilians who are not Viet Cong—that they must suffer."

In six days, the soldiers of Korea's Tiger Division had brought 3,500 refugees out of the rugged, cave-dotted Phu Cat Mountains 270 miles northeast of Saigon.

It was part of a pacification program that goes farther than various plans used by American commanders.

The refugees from war—old man, women carrying babies, frightened children — marched down winding trails toward the valley floor.

The refugees were taken to collection points. There they received food and blankets.

The refugees are moved from the collection points by foot, truck, helicopter or boat to the rear to await shipment or resettlement camps established by the Vietnamese government.

The refugees from the mountain area of 60 square miles exceed the facilities available. It probably will be weeks before many of them will be placed in camps to await the conclusion of Phu Cat Mountain fighting between the Koreans and the Viet Cong.

Then, those who have been classified as loyal to the government will be permitted to return to their homes.

The forced resettlement of all civilians in such a large area is the Tiger Division's solution to the problem of separating civilian noncombatants from guerrillas.

The division spokesman said: "If we do not do it this way, the war will not end, ever."

"We want all of the people to be evacuated from the area under VC control. If the population remains, the Viet Cong will return and set up their organization again."

The division used similar tactics when it was assigned to pacifying about 900 square miles of Binh Dinh Province around Qui Nhon when it arrived in Viet Nam a year ago.

"We are proud to say our area is now the most secure in Viet Nam," the spokesman said.

The Phu Cat Mountains have been held by the Viet Cong for more than 20 years, and are believed to harbor a main force.

"The French never went into the mountains and the American GIs called the main valley 'Death Valley,'" the spokesman said.

"We must consider the people of the area as hostile," Maj. Gen. Lew Byong Hon, commander of the Tiger Division, describing the over-all plan, said: "We call it our sit-on."

Solons Face Busy Week

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
WASHINGTON (AP) — Driving hard for adjournment by Saturday, Congress has crowded into this week's program more major legislation than it has considered in any previous month this year.

Bills dealing with billions of dollars in appropriations and the war on poverty, food for peace, aid to education, public works, water pollution, unemployment compensation, public health, "truth-in-packaging" and urban rehabilitation are carded for final action in the headlong rush to quit.

Prospects were good for all of them to get through before members of Congress end their work in Washington for the year and hurry home for final campaigning in advance of the Nov. 8 elections. There was some talk of quitting Thursday or Friday.

Most big spending bills previously cleared the Senate and the House and are now in compromise form and subject to limited debate.

New Theory Is Advanced On Tornadoes

Projectiles Would Be Fired into Storm Cloud Mass

NORMAN, Okla. (AP)—Stopping tornadoes by electrocution is proposed by a scientist who does it with laboratory models.

The theory — untested yet on a real tornado — calls for a cannon to fire many wire-wound projectiles into the tornado cloud, stretching a thin wire two miles or more between positive and negative clouds.

A resulting lightning bolt theoretically could short out and neutralize the electric field in the clouds which created the tornado, explained Dr. Vernon J. Rossow of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's Ames Research Center, Moffett Field, Calif., in a paper today at the 12th Weather Radar Conference at the University of Oklahoma.

After four years of study of storm-cloud forces, Rossow concludes that tornadoes are produced by two large cloud masses of positive and negative charge parallel to each other and about a mile apart.

If a flow of positively charged water droplets begins moving from the positive mass into the negative mass, he said, this usually forces a counterflow of negative droplets as the two masses are mutually attracted.

The counterflowing streams may begin to whirl faster and faster, building rotational speeds as high as 500 miles an hour, according to Rossow's theory. The tornado whirls its destructive path until the charged particle supply runs out.

Four Attend Library Meeting

Four local area representatives of the Pickaway County District Public Library attended sessions of the Ohio Library Assn. recently in Toledo.

Attending the three-day conference were Miss Jessie Cummings, acting librarian; Mrs. John H. Dunlap Jr., Mrs. Kermit Dountz, and Mrs. Stanley Bowers, all trustees of the library board.

Among speakers at the meeting were Joseph F. Shubert, state librarian; and Stanley J. Bowers, tax counsel for the Ohio Library Assn. Bowers presented aspects of financing public library service.

Civilian Anguish Is 'Part of War'

By ROBERT D. OHMAN

QUI NHON, South Viet Nam (AP)—"This is harsh, but this is war," said the spokesman for a division of the 4,500 Korean troops in Viet Nam.

"We recognize that this is a pity for the civilians who are not Viet Cong—that they must suffer."

In six days, the soldiers of Korea's Tiger Division had brought 3,500 refugees out of the rugged, cave-dotted Phu Cat Mountains 270 miles northeast of Saigon.

It was part of a pacification program that goes farther than various plans used by American commanders.

The refugees from war—old man, women carrying babies, frightened children — marched down winding trails toward the valley floor.

The refugees were taken to collection points. There they received food and blankets.

The refugees are moved from the collection points by foot, truck, helicopter or boat to the rear to await shipment or resettlement camps established by the Vietnamese government.

The refugees from the mountain area of 60 square miles exceed the facilities available. It probably will be weeks before many of them will be placed in camps to await the conclusion of Phu Cat Mountain fighting between the Koreans and the Viet Cong.

Then, those who have been classified as loyal to the government will be permitted to return to their homes.

The forced resettlement of all civilians in such a large area is the Tiger Division's solution to the problem of separating civilian noncombatants from guerrillas.

The division spokesman said:

Top Woman Named

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Mrs. J. Muller Stockstill of Wichita, Kan., has been named American Business Woman of the Year by the delegates to the annual convention of the American Business Women's Association.

"If we do not do it this way, the war will not end, ever."

"We want all of the people to be evacuated from the area under VC control. If the population remains, the Viet Cong will return and set up their organization again."

The division used similar tactics when it was assigned to pacifying about 900 square miles of Binh Dinh Province around Qui Nhon when it arrived in Viet Nam a year ago.

"We are proud to say our area is now the most secure in Viet Nam," the spokesman said.

The Phu Cat Mountains have been held by the Viet Cong for more than 20 years, and are believed to harbor a main force.

"The French never went into the mountains and the American GIs called the main valley 'Death Valley,'" the spokesman said. "We must consider the people of the area as hostile."

Maj. Gen. Lew Byong Hion, commander of the Tiger Division, describing the over-all plan, said: "We call it our sit-on-tactic. It is a matter of patience for us and for the Viet Cong.

"I don't like to leave any remnants of the enemy in there. One time is enough. We'll stay until we can't find any more guerrillas."

MOM GOT A MINK FROM HER NEW FLAME !

...AND DAD APPROVES.

Any new flame who passes out mink stoles doesn't have to be good-looking. But Mom's is.

Stands just under five feet tall. Strong, silent, dependable type; maybe a little on the square side.

And painted a wonderful color that just matches Mom's eyes.

Mom's new flame is her new Gas furnace. Every time she thinks of it she feels warm all over.

But about that mink. Dad figured it out: Gas heat costs about one-third as much as the flameless kind they had in their last house. Gas saves Dad up to several hundred dollars in heating bills every winter, thousands of dollars over the life of the mortgage. And that's a mink stole or two, or a new car, or a college education in anybody's bankbook.

There's more to the Gas heat story. Gas heat is fresh-air heat, circulating filtered-clean air that whisks tobacco smoke and cooking odors out of the air so fast you hardly notice them. Modern Gas heat warms every room evenly, with no chance of chilly floors or clammy basements.

Next time you fall in love with a home you're building or buying, make sure it has Gas heat.

Think of all the things you can do with the money you save with Gas.

Anxious Watch Maintained On Explosive Middle East

CAIRO (AP) — In the heart of the Arab East — only a few years ago the storm center of a world crisis — anxious watch is being kept on developments which once again could plunge this area into turmoil.

Eyes are fastened on a chaotic Syria. Observers often refer to it as the Red Chinese situation in miniature, one which could explode from internal pressures and place Syria's neighbors in jeopardy.

From guarded remarks, one gathers that Egyptian leaders, from President Gamal Abdel Nasser down, are far from happy about developments.

As viewed in Cairo, Syria seems in the hands of an irrational regime, headed by representatives of the far-left splinter of the Bath — Arab Social Revolution — party.

Like Red China, its leaders seem to be lashing out in all directions at real and imagined enemies.

Like Red China, its increasing isolation could impel it to measures which would involve other nations.

This month marks the 10th anniversary of the crisis in the Arab East which grew from the Suez imbroglio. At the end of October, 1956, Britain, France and Israel launched a synchronized attack on Egypt, attempting to seize the canal zone.

In a rare show of togetherness, the Soviet Union and the United States put a stop to that.

Today tension is rising again and once again the crisis has the look of one which could involve powers outside the Arab East.

Soviet presence in the Middle East, in the wake of a Communist bloc arms deal with Egypt and military aid to Syria, underscored the Communists' interest in establishing their influence in the area and gave each succeeding upheaval the look of an international crisis.

Since 1959 this element has faded.

Soviet policy regarding the area, whose oil supplies European industry, became markedly cautious. The Arabs' own inter-Arab disputes came more and more to be regarded as internal affairs. The threat of involving big powers diminished.

But now world attention is again being focused on the area. The United Nations Security Council is looking into Israel's charges of Syrian border aggression. Tension is rising on the frontier between Jordan and Syria. The Soviet Union has cautioned Israel against using force in the new dispute, thus bringing Moscow back into the picture.

Cleveland Election Spiced By Ages of 2 Candidates

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — In one of the hottest races for Congress in the Cleveland area's four districts, the issues of Viet Nam, civil rights and inflation are overshadowed by an issue of age.

The battle is between Rep. Frances P. Bolton, a Republican who has represented the 22nd District for 24 of her 81 years, and Democrat Anthony O. Calabrese Jr., a man 50 years Mrs. Bolton's junior and a three-term representative in the Ohio legislature.

Other incumbents are expected to have less trouble retaining their seats in the house.

In the 21st District, Rep. Charles A. Vanik, incumbent Democrat, faces Frederick Coleman, a hard-campaigning Negro Republican. Rep. Michael A. Feighan of the 20th District also has a Negro opponent, Clarence E. McLeod, former chairman of the Ohio Pardon and Parole Commission. Racial overtones and civil rights issues have not entered these campaigns.

In the 23rd District, Republican Rep. William E. Minshall opposes Sheldon D. Clark, a Quaker opposed to the war in Viet Nam.

Calabrese, son of a Democratic state senator, seeks to break up the father-son legislature team by winning from Mrs. Bolton the seat she first held for the unexpired term of her husband, Chester, after his death in 1940.

Calabrese started his campaign by saying the "district has not been getting its proper share of federal help for the amount of tax dollars we sent to Washington." He soon changed his stand and started attacking Mrs. Bolton's age and voting record.

Despite Calabrese's hard campaigning, Mrs. Bolton — who scorns the term "congresswoman" — has not changed her campaign approach used the past 26 years, except to strengthen her contact with constituents.

Mrs. Bolton, who says experience is more important than going along with the administration, has support from the mayors of Euclid, Cleveland Heights, Shaker Heights, South Euclid, Lyndhurst, Highland Heights and Gates Mills.

The two races involving Negroes are regarded more as racial party contests than as racial ones. Both incumbents have beaten Negro opponents before and neither district is predominantly Negro.

Redistricting has cut a block of Negro votes for Mrs. Bolton's district, while adding voters from close-in suburbs. Bound-

His Plight Would Make Anyone Cry

DETROIT (AP) — Joe Lukaszewicz stood on the corner and cried.

Someone had stolen his bike. Joe, 44, has cerebral palsy and cannot walk without help.

Without the bike he can't travel up and down Detroit's East Side selling newspapers.

Without a bike he's confined to his corner newsstand.

This sort of confinement isn't new to him. His first bike was stolen last summer.

For three months Joe suffered through its absence.

Then a neighbor, Irene Bonkowski, contacted the Cerebral Palsy Association, which got Joe a new bike.

It was chrome and red, a special bike, with a seat and pedals and handlebars specially fitted for Joe and small wheels on each side at the back to keep him from toppling over. It cost $74 and arrived Tuesday.

It was stolen Wednesday.

"You never heard anybody cry like Joe did," Mrs. Bonkowski said. "He had waited so long for that bike, and then it was stolen. He just stood on the street corner and cried like a baby."

Do you realize you have POWER like this to draw upon?

When you plug in an appliance you are "drawing" on the generators of your electric company. But there's more to the story... you are plugged into the enormous capacity of a network!

The lines of Ohio's eight electric light and power companies (with over 30 generating stations) are interconnected to form one of the strongest regional networks in the nation. This network is linked with electric systems in many other states. The exchange of electricity over these lines benefits you in many ways. Here are three:

1. It helps keep costs down, because fewer stand-by facilities are needed by your electric company. The price you pay for electricity remains low.
2. Because these companies are interconnected for instant exchange of power, you get even more dependable electric service.
3. By providing a more dependable electric service throughout the state, the investor-owned utilities help to create more jobs by attracting new industries, and make your community an even better place in which to live.

Anxious Watch Maintained On Explosive Middle East

CAIRO (AP) — In the heart of the Arab East — only a few years ago the storm center of a world crisis — anxious watch is being kept on developments which once again could plunge this area into turmoil.

Eyes are fastened on a chaotic Syria. Observers often refer to it as the Red Chinese situation in miniature, one which could explode from internal pressures and place Syria's neighbors in jeopardy.

From guarded remarks, one gathers that Egyptian leaders, from President Gamal Abdel Nasser down, are far from happy about developments.

As viewed in Cairo, Syria sits in the hands of an irrational regime, headed by representatives of the far-left splinter of the Bath — Arab Social Resurrection — party.

Like Red China, its leaders seem to be lashing out in all directions at real and imagined enemies.

Like Red China, its increasing isolation could impel it to measures which would involve other nations.

This month marks the 10th anniversary of the crisis in the Arab East which grew from the Suez imbroglio. At the end of October, 1956, Britain, France and Israel launched a synchronized attack on Egypt, attempting to seize the canal zone.

In a rare show of togetherness, the Soviet Union and the United States put a stop to that.

Today tension is rising again and once again the crisis has the look of one which could involve powers outside the Arab East.

Soviet presence in the Middle East, in the wake of a Communist bloc arms deal with Egypt and military aid to Syria, underscored the Communists' interest in establishing their influence in the area and gave each succeeding upheaval the look of an international crisis.

Since 1959 this element has faded.

Soviet policy regarding the area, whose oil supplies European industry, became markedly cautious. The Arabs' own inter-Arab disputes came more and more to be regarded as internal affairs. The threat of involving big powers diminished.

But now world attention is again being focused on the area. The United Nations Security Council is looking into Israel's charges of Syrian border aggression. Tension is rising on the frontier between Jordan and Syria. The Soviet Union has cautioned Israel against using force in the new dispute, thus bringing Moscow back into the picture.

Cleveland Election Spiced By Ages of 2 Candidates

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — In one of the hottest races for Congress in the Cleveland area's four districts, the issues of Viet Nam, civil rights and inflation are overshadowed by an issue of age.

The battle is between Rep. Frances P. Bolton, a Republican who has represented the 22nd District for 24 of her 81 years, and Democrat Anthony O. Calabrese Jr., a man 50 years Mrs. Bolton's junior and a three-term representative in the Ohio legislature.

Other incumbents are expected to have less trouble retaining their seats in the house.

In the 21st District, Rep. Charles A. Vanik, incumbent Democrat, faces Frederick Coleman, a hard-campaigning Negro Republican. Rep. Michael A. Feighan of the 20th District also has a Negro opponent, Clarence E. McLeod, former chairman of the Ohio Pardon and Parole Commission. Racial overtones and civil rights issues have not entered these campaigns.

In the 23rd District, Republican Rep. William E. Minshall opposes Sheldon D. Clark, a Quaker opposed to the war in Viet Nam.

Calabrese, son of a Democratic state senator, seeks to break up the father-son legislative team by winning from Mrs. Bolton the seat she first held for the unexpired term of her husband, Chester, after his death in 1940.

Calabrese started his campaign by saying the "district has not been getting its proper share of federal help for the amount of tax dollars we sent to Washington." He soon changed his stand and started attacking Mrs. Bolton's age and voting record.

Despite Calabrese's hard campaigning, Mrs. Bolton — who scorns the term "congresswoman" — has not changed her campaign approach used the past 26 years, except to strengthen her contact with constituents.

Mrs. Bolton, who says experience is more important than going along with the administration, has support from the mayors of Euclid, Cleveland Heights, Shaker Heights, South Euclid, Lyndhurst, Highland Heights and Gates Mills.

The two races involving Negroes are regarded more as racial party contests than as racial ones. Both incumbents have beaten Negro opponents before and neither district is predominantly Negro.

Redistricting has cut a block of Negro votes for Mrs. Bolton's district, while adding voters from close-in suburbs. Bound-

His Plight Would Make Anyone Cry

DETROIT (AP) — Joe Lukaszewicz stood on the corner and cried.

Someone had stolen his bike. Joe, 44, has cerebral palsy and cannot walk without help.

Without the bike he can't travel up and down Detroit's East Side selling newspapers.

Without a bike he's confined to his corner newsstand.

This sort of confinement isn't new to him. His first bike was stolen last summer.

For three months Joe suffered through its absence.

Then a neighbor, Irene Bonkowski, contacted the Cerebral Palsy Association, which got Joe a new bike.

It was chrome and red, a special bike, with a seat and pedals and handlebars specially fitted for Joe and small wheels on each side at the back to keep him from toppling over. It cost $74 and arrived Tuesday.

It was stolen Wednesday.

"You never heard anybody cry like Joe did," Mrs. Bonkowski said. "He had waited so long for that bike, and then it was stolen. He just stood on the street corner and cried like a baby."

dary changes have left about 25 per cent of the vote in Feighan's 20th District Negro, while racial balance in Vanik's 21st District is about 50-50. Reshaping Minshall's district did little to affect its Republican character.

Vanik at 53 is one of Cleveland's most popular congressmen and a top vote-getter. His opponent is a public defender and is a major in the Ohio National Guard. A native of Lilly, Ga., Coleman came to Cleveland with his family when he was four and was graduated from Cleveland public schools.

Coleman is a graduate of Western Reserve University and Cleveland-Marshall Law School. He earned degrees at night while working as a mail carrier to support his wife and son. He carried mail 20 years, including his first year as an attorney.

In his campaign, the 48-year-old attorney has stressed the need for equal opportunity, elimination of poverty, position and cycles of boom and depression in the nation's economy, as well as a need for developing a firm basis for world peace.

Vanik, an 11-year veteran of Congress, polled 66 per cent of the vote in the 1964 primary and 90 per cent of the votes in that year's general election, when he also had a Negro foe. He received 91 per cent of the votes in this year's primary.

The other active Democratic Congressman from Cleveland has been in Congress 24 years. Feighan, 61, seldom has trouble in the general election, but usually is a prime target of fellow party members during the primaries. He beat a field of four including a Negro, last spring.

McLeod, an attorney, was unsuccessful candidate for city council in 1965 and failed to get enough signatures on petitions to run in the last Cleveland mayoral election as an independent.

No major issues have entered into the Feighan-McLeod race yet, but McLeod has come out against inflation. Feighan, since squeaking through the primary with a 244-vote margin out of 39,000 ballots, reportedly has been seeking a public relations man to handle the stepped-up number of news letters being sent to constituents.

The only campaign shaping up with Viet Nam overtones is in Minshall's 23rd District.

Opposing the 12-year congressional veteran is a 55-year-old attorney who wants and end to the armed conflict in Viet Nam. Clark, a Quaker who has visited Viet Nam, told a Democratic steer roast that he favors peace at any price.

Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey took the stand and opposed Clark's position, but gave him the party endorsement. Humphrey said it's easier for President Johnson to work with a Democrat who is only 5 per cent with him than to work with a Republican who is 95 per cent against him.

Clark has attacked Minshall for voting for increased defense spending since 1955. Minshall is a ranking member of the house subcommittee on defense appropriations.

When you plug in an appliance you are "drawing" on the generators of your electric company. But there's more to the story... you are plugged into the enormous capacity of a network!

The lines of Ohio's eight electric light and power companies (with over 30 generating stations) are interconnected to form one of the strongest regional networks in the nation. This network is linked with electric systems in many other states. The exchange of electricity over these lines benefits you in many ways. Here are three:

1. It helps keep costs down, because fewer stand-by facilities are needed by your electric company. The price you pay for electricity remains low.
2. Because these companies are interconnected for instant exchange of power, you get even more dependable electric service.
3. By providing a more dependable electric service throughout the state, the investor-owned utilities help to create more jobs by attracting new industries, and make your community an even better place in which to live.

Zane Trace Cage Team Practicing

The Zane Trace High School basketball team has started practice already, with an eye toward the opening game Nov. 12 with an Alumni team.

Because the Ross County school does not have a football team, it is permitted to start cage practice one month earlier than other schools.

Veteran coach Robert Sigler is at the helm of the Zane Trace Pioneers again.

Sigler coached at old Centralia High School for eight years, and when the district was consolidated with Kingston Union schools, took over as head coach of the new district.

ACCORDING to the veteran mentor, his team is taller than last year, but is still not overly tall. In addition, the squad is inexperienced.

Gerry Arrigo Is Back on Red's Roster

CINCINNATI (AP) — Gerry Arrigo is back on the Cincinnati Reds' roster as the result of the latest promotion of farmhands during the off season.

The 25-year-old southpaw was one of eight players whose promotion was announced Monday by club President William O. DeWitt. Arrigo appeared in three games for the Reds this season before going to the New York Mets.

Another addition to the roster was Dan McGinn, a former Notre Dame football star and left-handed pitcher who is now in the service. He posted a 2-1 mark at Knoxville this year.

The other newcomers are pitchers Jack Earl and John Noriega; catcher John Bench; infielders Bernie Carbo and Hal McRae and outfielder John Fenderson.

Fenderson batted .324 for Knoxville and led the Southern League in batting while Noriega had a 2-6 record with the same club.

Bench, a husky 19-year-old from Binger, Okla., missed part of the 1966 season because of a thumb fracture. He hit 22 home runs and drove in 68 runs in 98 games at Peninsula in the Carolina League. Carbo, a 19-year-old third baseman, batted and hit 15 home runs for the same club.

McRae also played for Peninsula and finished the season with a .287 batting average and 56 runs batted in.

Earl, a 21-year-old right-hander, won 13 games and lost 14 at Tampa in his first season of professional baseball.

The additions brought the Reds' roster to 41 players.

Safety Woody King from Honolulu and end Roger Calderwood from South Byfield, Mass., are co-captains of Wyoming's football team.

the two returning regulars.

In early practice sessions, the team has shown a good attitude with lots of hustle and desire, Sigler claims. He is looking forward to a good year, although he feels the Ross County league will be "as tough as ever."

Other teams in the Ross County League include Uniontown, Huntington, Adena, Southeastern, Bishop Flaget, Paint Valley.

Seniors on the Pioneer squad include Ebert, Maxwell, Russ Valentine, Steve McCullough, Steve Wunsch.

Steve Kellenberger, Barry Bennett, Gary Kuhn, John Ralston, Nick Van Buskirk and Sam Speakman are all juniors.

Pro Leagues Are Driving For Merger

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National and American Football Leagues drove toward the goal for congress on all approval for their merger today after a tricky handoff faked out the main opponent.

While Rep. Emanuel Celler, D-N. Y., apparently had blocked off the merger bill from his position as House Judiciary Committee chairman, congressional supporters slipped the provision onto a tax bill and past Celler's grasp.

House and Senate approval for the tax bill, including exemption of the football merger from antitrust action, is almost certain.

The vote will come this week.

NFL Commissioner Pete Rozelle had argued for weeks that unless Congress would guarantee that the merger could not be tied up in courts, plans for the creation of a superleague would have to be dropped.

Now, apparently, a championship game between the NFL and AFL titlists will be able to go on as scheduled at the end of the season.

The Senate earlier this fall passed a similar measure but it was tied up in Celler's committee.

LARGEST MUSKIE — Ed Pritchard, plugging from a boat in Hargus Lake, A. W. Marion State Park, yesterday afternoon, hooked and landed a 37 inch, 12 3/4 pound muskie. Entered in the fishing contest sponsored by the Pickaway Farmers and Sportsmen Assn., it is the largest muskie caught at the local lake this season.

Powell Grateful, but Not Anxious for Repeat Award

BALTIMORE (AP) — It's not that John (Boog) Powell isn't grateful and honored, but he hopes there will never be another reason to select him as Comeback Player of the Year in the American League.

"It's one award I don't want to win again," said Powell on Monday, when informed of his selection in The Associated Press poll. "I consider it an honor, but once is enough."

The 250-pound first baseman hit 34 homers in the regular season, had 109 runs batted in, and a .287 batting average. He polled 124 votes in the balloting by 312 baseball writers.

Powell was runner-up in RBI, third in homers and fourth in batting. In 1965, he hit only .248 with 17 homers and 72 runs batted in.

Another Oriole, shortstop Luis Aparicio, was second in the voting with 32 votes and California Angels hurler Jack Sanford was third with 27.

Aparicio, who has returned to his home in Venezuela for the winter, had threatened to retire following the 1965 season in which he batted .225. He claimed that his wife convinced him to make another try and he thanked her publicly at the end of this season. Aparicio batted .276 in 151 games for his best year since 1960, when he hit .277 for the Chicago White Sox.

Sanford compiled a 13-7 record for the Angels, pitching in 50 games, 45 in relief. Last year with San Francisco of the National League, the 37-year-old right-hander was 5-7. He had 24 victories for the Giants in 1962 and 16 in 1963. In 1964 he underwent elbow surgery.

Browns Seem In Shape for Cowboy Tilt

CLEVELAND (AP) — Except for Walter Beach, the Cleveland Browns should be in excellent physical shape for Sunday's game against the Dallas Cowboys.

"Right now I'm not counting on Walter except for emergency duty," Coach Blanton Collier said Monday of the defensive back.

Beach has been sidelined with a pulled calf muscle.

Tackle Dick Schafrath told a Touchdown Club luncheon Monday that defensive tackle Frank Parker "is just about back to 100 per cent movement." Parker has been out with a knee injury and sprained ankle.

On the other side, the Cowboys, undefeated in the National Football League's Eastern Division along with St. Louis, also are reported in good shape.

Braves Get Player

ATLANTA (AP) — First baseman Jim Beauchamp, who hit .317 and 25 home runs before suffering a broken wrist in the International League during the past season, has been acquired from Richmond by the Atlanta Braves.

Tim Brown Has Ambitions Of Becoming Real Actor

NEW YORK (AP) — When the Philadelphia Eagles kid Timmy Brown about his ambitions to become an actor, the star halfback has a ready answer.

"When I make it big, you'll be coming a round to the back door," Timmy answers with a smile. "Don't ask me for any ringside table."

Brown was in town for his weekly acting lesson at the Herbert Berghoff studio in the Village. He comes up from Philadelphia every Monday, an off day for pro football players, and reads scripts or observes from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m.

"I don't like to use football in connection with my acting career," said Timmy who has made several recordings as a popular singer. "I started singing five years ago and made some recordings — all bombs. I think acting will be my forte in the long run."

Brown broke into the acting business in summer stock at Bucks County in Pennsylvania, playing in the Thurber Carnival with Dodie Goodmen and Eddie Bracken.

"I divide my life in six months football and six months with my other career," he said.

Timmy is a sensitive man with great pride in his ability. He is disappointed because he is not having as good a football season as he hoped.

"Maybe I expect too much of myself," he said. "My friends will tell you that I never think I have had a good game."

Timmy had a good day against Pittsburgh Sunday when he carried 23 times for 96 yards, top rushing performance in the National Football League for the week. He also caught two passes for 15 yards and scored a touchdown.

Indians Acquire Smith in Trade

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians traded infielder George Banks to the California Angels for outfielder Willie Smith Monday.

Also, the Indians brought up pitcher Vicente Romo from their Portland club in the Pacific league. Romo, a right-hander, had a 17-7 mark with Mexico City last season.

Smith, 27, batted .184 with one home run and 20 RBIs in 89 games with the Angels. Banks batted .240 at Portland in 122 games.

Columbia Lions Win

CALGARY (AP) — The British Columbia Lions survived a last-ditch surge by Calgary and staved off the Stampeders 13-9 Monday night in a Canadian Football League game.

You don't believe a 6 can act anything like an 8?

With our new Overhead Cam Six you'd better believe it.

A few short years ago automotive engineers were struggling to coax 165 hp out of a four barrel V-8 using premium gas. Remember? Our single barrel OHC 6 gets 165 hp on regular. And 215 from the premium gas four barrel option.

Most American sixes (and some underprivileged V-8s) don't even come close. Expensive European sports machines do. But they're overhead cams, too. In fact, they inspired us. But we like to think ours is better.

Our OHC 6 is standard on all Tempests and Le Mans. To say nothing of new styling, new interiors, new colors, new options (like that hood-mounted tach) and new standard safety features (like passenger-guard door locks, General Motors' new energy absorbing steering column and a four-way hazard warning flasher).

We've said enough. If a test drive won't convince you, nothing will.

"When I make it big, you'll be coming a round to the back door," Timmy answers with a smile. "Don't ask me for any ringside table."

Brown was in town for his weekly acting lesson at the Herbert Berghoff studio in the Village. He comes up from Philadelphia every Monday, an off day for pro football players, and reads scripts or observes from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m.

"I don't like to use football in connection with my acting career," said Timmy who has made several recordings as a popular singer. "I started singing five years ago and made some recordings — all bombs. I think acting will be my forte in the long run."

Brown broke into the acting business in summer stock at Bucks County in Pennsylvania, playing in the Thurber Carnival with Dodie Goodman and Eddie Bracken.

"I divide my life in six months football and six months with my other career," he said.

Timmy is a sensitive man with great pride in his ability. He is disappointed because he is not having as good a football season as he hoped.

"Maybe I expect too much of myself," he said. "My friends will tell you that I never think I have had a good game."

Timmy had a good day against Pittsburgh Sunday when he carried 23 times for 96 yards, top rushing performance in the National Football League for the week. He also caught two passes for 15 yards and scored a touchdown.

Indians Acquire Smith in Trade

CLEVELAND (AP) — The Cleveland Indians traded infielder George Banks to the California Angels for outfielder Willie Smith Monday.

Also, the Indians brought up pitcher Vincente Romo from their Portland club in the Pacific league. Romo, a right-hander, had a 17-7 mark with Mexico City last season.

Smith, 27, batted .184 with one home run and 20 RBIs in 89 games with the Angels. Banks batted .240 at Portland in 122 games.

Columbia Lions Win

CALGARY (AP) — The British Columbia Lions survived a last-ditch surge by Calgary and staved off the Stampeders 13-9 Monday night in a Canadian Football League game.

You don't believe a 6 can act anything like an 8?

With our new Overhead Cam Six you'd better believe it.

A few short years ago automotive engineers were struggling to coax 165 hp out of a four barrel V-8 using premium gas. Remember? Our single barrel OHC 6 gets 165 hp on regular. And 215 from the premium gas four barrel option.

Most American sixes (and some underprivileged V-8s) don't even come close. Expensive European sports machines do. But they're overhead cams, too. In fact, they inspired us. But we like to think ours is better.

Our OHC 6 is standard on all Tempests and Le Mans. To say nothing of new styling, new interiors, new colors, new options (like that hood-mounted tach) and new standard safety features (like passenger-guard door locks, General Motors' new energy absorbing steering column and a four-way hazard warning flasher).

We've said enough. If a test drive won't convince you, nothing will.

Irish Forge Ahead In Gridiron Poll

By BEN OLAN
Associated Press Sports Writer
Notre Dame forged ahead of Michigan State and took over first place in The Associated Press major-college football poll today. UCLA and Georgia Tech also advanced while Oklahoma climbed into the Top Ten, replacing Baylor.

The Irish, 32-0 victors over North Carolina last Saturday, collected 31 votes for the top position and 443 points in the balloting by a national panel of 47 sports writers and broadcasters.

Michigan State dropped to second with 10 first-place votes and 416 points. The Spartans were extended in edging Ohio State 11-8 for their fifth straight victory.

Notre Dame, also unbeaten, but in four games, takes on Michigan State Nov. 19 at South Bend.

UCLA changed places with Alabama, the Bruins climbing to third place with 366 points and the Tide slipping to fourth with 354. Points were awarded on a basis of 10 for a first place vote, 9 for second etc.

UCLA trounced Penn State 49-11 while Alabama rolled in the final period to defeat Tennessee, 11-0.

Southern California held the No. 5 spot after beating Stanford 21-7.

Georgia Tech moved into sixth place while Nebraska slipped one notch to seventh. Florida, Purdue and Oklahoma complete the first 10 in that order.

Two among this week-end's games match ranking teams. Notre Dame meets Oklahoma and Michigan State faces Purdue. The others involving rated teams match UCLA and California, Alabama and Vanderbilt, Southern California and Clemson, Georgia Tech and Tulane, Nebraska and Colorado, and Florida and Louisiana State.

The Top Ten, with first-place votes and total points:

1. Notre Dame (31)	443
2. Michigan St. (10)	416
3. UCLA (3)	366
4. Alabama (2)	354
5. Southern Calif. (1)	277
6. Georgia Tech	211
7. Nebraska	184
8. Florida	130
9. Purdue	89
10. Oklahoma	83

Big Red Still Leads Pack

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three teams, including mighty Massillon, fell from the top ten ratings today but unbeaten Steubenville held a firm grip on the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press' weekly high school football poll.

The Big Red walloped Toledo Macomber 40-0 last Friday for their sixth straight victory and garnered 203 poll points.

Niles (6-0) moved past Sandusky into the runnerup position with 169 points while the Blue Streaks (6-0) fell to third on 141 points.

my, Unioto, Stanton Local, New Albany, Bridgeport and Brookville.

Unioto knocked Piketon from the top ten with a 16-0 victory and Millersport ousted Berne Union with a 20-0 triumph.

Scholastic sidelights—Steubenville will be anxious to avenge some one-sided thrashings at the hands of Canton McKinley Friday night.

The two schools didn't meet last year but the Bulldogs won in 1963, 60-0, and again in 1964, 70-0. McKinley, beaten three times this season, has bowed to rugged Niles, Warren Harding and Cleveland St. Joseph.

over Mansfield Madison.

Top-ranked Marion Catholic lost its all-state fallback candidate when it beat Mount Gil-ead 22-0. Tim Grady, who had scored 56 points and rolled up 814 yards in 129 carries, suffered a broken leg on the first play of the second quarter. Grady had gained 113 yards in the first quarter.

Class A Cuyahoga Heights has now registered five straight shutouts, all against AA opposition.

Views on TV - Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Television game shows, like fashions in clothes, move in cycles and if you can hang on to an idea long enough, it is bound to turn up in style again. That fine childhood game, tic-tac-toe, again is the basis of a day-time diversion.

Seven years ago, NBC abruptly dumped a show called "Tic Tac Dough" amid the uproar surround the great quiz show scandal. Monday morning a half-hour show was born on NBC called "Hollywood Squares." The inspiration once again was the familiar parlor game with its circles and crosses.

Rounding out the elite group were Upper Arlington (6-0), Columbus Watterson (6-0), Hamilton Garfield (5-0), Cincinnati Elder (5-0), Dover (6-0), Louisville (6-0) and Portsmouth (5-1).

The last three teams crashed the top ten as Warren Harding and Mansfield Madison dropped out along with Massillon.

The Tigers lost to Altoona, Pa., 20-14. Mansfield Madison was a 28-14 victim of Dover and Warren bowed to Alliance 22-13.

No. 9 Louisville has won 34 in a row. Mansfield Madison is coached by ex-Ohio State Len-nie Fontes, whose younger brother Arnie is a current member of the Bucks.

No. 2 Millersport, with a 17-game winning streak and only one loss in its last 37 contests, has allowed only six points in the past 67 quarters.

Portsmouth Notre Dame, third-rated among the small schools, has a 20-game winning skien alive. No. 4 Clear Fork has 29 straight but risks that record against tough Fredericktown Friday.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Here are the Class AA ratings in The Associated Press poll of Ohio's high school football teams (points on a 10, 9, 8 etc. basis)

School	W	L	T	Pts.
1. Steubenville	6	0	0	203
2. Niles	6	0	0	169

Buckeyes Getting Hungry For Another Gridiron Win

By HAL PARIS
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State, bidding to make a comeback after three straight setbacks, tangles with Wisconsin Saturday on homecoming day.

Coach Woody Hayes' Buckeyes are hungry for a victory over a so-so Wisconsin team that hasn't won at Ohio Stadium since 1918.

The sophomore studded Badgers have a 2-2 record but show a victory and a tie in Big Ten activity. The 3-3 tie came last Saturday against Northwestern while the Bucks were losing an 11-8 heartbreaker to No. 1 ranked Michigan State.

Hayes, proud of his squad but still depressed after coming so close against the Spartans, warned the Badgers could be tough.

"Wisconsin has a much, much better team than a year ago," Hayes told his weekly press luncheon Monday. "But we are better too," he added.

While Ohio hasn't shown much offensively, scoring only six touchdowns in its first four games, Wisconsin's attack is even more inept. The Badger have tallied only one touchdown in their last four games, that one in a 7-0 victory over hapless Iowa three weeks ago.

Coach Milt Bruhn's club has piled up 517 yards rushing and 575 yards passing so they pose the threat of doing both against the Bucks.

"Wisconsin has played a couple of fine games and a couple of bad ones, Hayes noted. "But in the games they were bad, they improved in the second half."

The Badgers' top runner is sophomore fullback Wayne Todd who has rushed for 219 yards in 59 tries.

Scout Esco Sarkkinen reported that the Badgers are likely to go with another soph, John Ryan at quarterback, but junior John Boyajian should see action. Ryan has completed 19 of 48 passes for 249 yards while Boyajian has hit 22 of 47 for 326 yards.

Tom McCauley has been the main target with 14 receptions for 253 yards.

Sarkkinen also singled out linebacker Sam Wheeler and Bob Richter as the hub of the Badger defense.

Hayes, taking time to reflect on the loss to Michigan State, said:

Big Red Still Leads Pack

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Three teams, including mighty Massillon, fell from the top ten ratings today but unbeaten Steubenville held a firm grip on the No. 1 spot in The Associated Press' weekly high school football poll.

The Big Red walloped Toledo Macomber 40-0 last Friday for their sixth straight victory and garnered 203 poll points.

Niles (6-0) moved past Sandusky into the runnerup position with 169 points while the Blue Streaks (6-0) fell to third on 141 points.

my, Unioto, Stanton Local, New Albany, Bridgeport and Brookville.

Unioto knocked Piketon from the top ten with a 16-0 victory and Millersport ousted Berne Union with a 20-0 triumph.

Scholastic sidelights—Steubenville will be anxious to avenge some one-sided thrashings at the hands of Canton McKinley Friday night.

The two schools didn't meet last year but the Bulldogs won in 1963, 60-0, and again in 1964, 70-0. McKinley, beaten three times this season, has bowed to rugged Niles, Warren Harding and Cleveland St. Joseph.

Class A Cuyahoga Heights has now registered five straight shutouts, all against AA opposition.

The last three teams crashed the top ten as Warren Harding and Mansfield Madison dropped out along with Massillon.

The Tigers lost to Altoona, Pa., 20-14, Mansfield Madison was a 28-14 victim of Dover and Warren bowed to Alliance 22-13.

The ratings could be in for another shakeup next week as No. 4 Arlington visits twice-beaten Massillon, now ranked 11th; No. 1 Steubenville is at home to dangerous Canton McKinley and No. 3 Sandusky comes to grips with unbeaten Elyria (6-0).

Portsmouth Notre Dame, third-rated among the small schools, has a 20-game winning skel alive. No. 4 Clear Fork has 20 straight but risks that record against tough Fredericktown Friday.

No. 9 Bridgeport had its 17-game winning streak snapped by Weirton, W. Va., Madonna, 15-12 last Saturday.

Both Ohio and Wisconsin are in good physical shape for Saturday's clash. The Bucks hold the series edge, 24-7-4 and haven't lost to Wisconsin since 1959.

125 Attend Annual Meeting Of Pickaway Farm Bureau

Approximately 125 people were on hand Saturday night for the 46th annual meeting of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau.

President Loring Leist opened the session with a welcome to the group and reminded the members that this was their meeting and to feel free to discuss the issues.

Entertainment was provided by a choral group of boys from Washington Twp. School under the direction of Mrs. Ralph Dunkel. Paul Dunkel led the members in group singing before the business session.

HAROLD FURNESS, treasurer of the organization gave a detailed financial accounting of the 1966 year.

Mrs. Rodney Ward, secretary, read the minutes of the last annual meeting.

Richard Hansen, chairman of the nominating committee, handled the election of new trustees to the Farm Bureau Board. Elected as trustee for three year terms were: Harry Kern, Jackson Twp.; Cecil Ward, Scioto Twp.; Harry Sharrett, Pickaway Twp.; Carl Schein, Deer Creek Twp. Elected as delegates to the 1967 Ohio Farm Bureau Annual Meeting were: T. M. McFadden and Mrs. Ralph Fisher.

Dick Tootle, chairman of the Policy Development Committee handled a very interesting discussion of the organization's proposed policies for the coming year. Several amendments were introduced and after having thoroughly discussed each resolution, the members passed all by a unanimous vote.

The featured speaker of the evening was Morris Alton, Director of Public Affairs for the Ohio Farm Bureau. Alton spoke about the changes taking place in today's agriculture and told how farmers today only number 3 per cent of the population yet control 7 per cent of the land. He climaxed his talk by adding that many changes are taking place on the farm and the Ohio Farm Bureau is constantly upgrading their programs to keep pace with the change.

Harry Kern and Robert A. Jones, co-chairmen of the Code of Regulations Committee, presented information in regard to several code changes. One pertained to raising the dues of the local organization from $15 to $20 annually and the other was in regard to a date for annual meetings. Both of these code changes were approved by the members.

At the conclusion of the business session a drawing was held for an electric knife that was donated by the Nationwide Insurance agents. Recipient of the prize was Arthur Leist.

Alliance Wants Land Vacated

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — The Federal Alliance of Land Grants, which claims that 500,000 acres of federal land in northern New Mexico belong to its members, says it will serve eviction papers on the U.S. Forest Service.

The alliance's president, Reies Tijerina, said Monday that lawyer Jerry Noll would draw up the papers ordering the Forest Service to vacate the land in the Carson National Forest near Abiquiu.

Richard Fowler, attorney for the Forest Service, said "we would have to see their papers first and then respond with whatever action we deemed proper."

Alliance members, most of Spanish-American heritage, claim the land belongs to them under the 1848 treaty of Guadalupe-Hidalgo which ended the U.S. Mexican War.

Columbus Police Press Lead In 1962 Slaying of Coed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Their initial enthusiasm was somewhat tempered, but Columbus police were betting a first-degree murder warrant today they finally had their answers to a slaying that had stymied them for four years.

Two detectives took the warrant to Oklahoma City with orders to question thoroughly the ex-convict who police said Monday volunteered a remarkable knowledge of unpublished circumstances in the Sept. 20, 1962, slaying of Mary Margaret Andrews.

Miss Andrews, a 19-year-old Columbus Business University coed from Winterville, a Steubenville suburb, was fatally shot in the head in a garage. Police said she evidently had been subjected to an unnatural sex act.

Hundreds of possible suspects have been questioned about the slaying that shocked the Buckeye capital.

The warrant was obtained. Hopes waned a bit, however, when it was learned Golightly had volunteered information about another slaying, in Arizona, which turned out to have been committed while he was in custody.

Word was that Golightly would waive extradition to Ohio, if today's questioning proved basis for bringing him here to face the murder charge.

Big Tidal Waves Are Considered Sea Monsters

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The tidal wave, or tsunami, is a sea monster that can stalk the ocean at speeds up to 500 miles an hour.

Today, fear of tidal waves generated alarms across thousands of miles of coastal areas on the Pacific basin — with good reason. A wave can strike as if from a calm ocean, but leave in its wake battering ram destruction of life and property.

The deadly wave usually starts near undersea earthquakes and can travel thousands of miles across the ocean to batter far distant shores. Authorities say waves can range from a few inches in height to over 100 feet.

Observers in Hawaii, where a tidal wave devastated the Hilo business district in 1961 taking 62 lives, said the harbor suddenly emptied of water. Then a roaring wall of water returned and kept going inland to strike homes and businesses.

Johnson Makes No Promise On Manila Session Outcome

HONOLULU (AP)—President Johnson island hops farther across the Pacific today after insisting that the Manila conference will produce neither new strategy for the war in Viet Nam nor a spectacular peace formula.

Johnson, still five days from Manila on his 29,000-mile Asian trip, was heading from Hawaii to New Zealand via Pago Pago, in American Samoa.

The President and his wife got a rousing reception Monday in Honolulu. Tens of thousands—many of them young people—jammed miles of downtown streets in a friendly colorful greeting. The state's delighted Democratic governor, John A. Burns, gave an unrestrained crowd estimate of 400,000.

Johnson responded in typical fashion, hopping out of his car at least a score of times to shake hands and, when staying inside, shouting through loudspeakers mounted inside the trunk, "Aloha, good to see you."

Even while traveling in the welcome, however, the President made clear his attention was on Manila and the Viet Nam war.

In two formal speeches in Hawaii, he went out of his way to discourage high hopes for his Oct. 24-25 meeting in the Philippines with leaders of six other countries fighting alongside the United States in Viet Nam.

At the East-West Center on the University of Hawaii campus, with several score antiwar placards hoisted above the crowd, Johnson said: "I want my fellow countrymen to know that we are taking with us no magical wands and no instant solution."

Earlier, arriving at Honolulu International Airport, Johnson discarded much of his prepared speech and read another which said: "We do not expect to pull any rabbits out of any hats at Manila."

Without getting specific, Johnson said, "Some have predicted Manila." He said that some this or that will happen in Manila." He said that some

Mrs. Goldman's sister telephoned the Melbourne newspaper and said she believed the girl in the movie was her sister Tessa, who is now the wife of the vice president of New York City's Radio City Music Hall.

Mrs. Goldman, contacted by telephone from Melbourne, gave a copy of the photograph to the Sun's New York bureau. The inscription on it read: "For Tessa, with many thanks for Melbourne hospitality, Lyndon Johnson, June 17, 1942."

Mrs. Goldman told the Sun by telephone she met Johnson at the home of Lady Mabel Brookes, wife of Sir Norman Brookes, a former international tennis star.

"He is a very charming man," Mrs. Goldman said of Johnson. "I remember him as being as handsome as a film star. I felt I knew him very well." Mrs. Goldman said she and Lady Brookes' daughter, Elaine, became very good friends with Johnson.

HERE ARE SOME ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS ON THIS SENSATIONAL GUARANTEE PLAN:

Q. Exactly what do you mean by a Guaranteed Electric Heating Plan?

A. It will guarantee that the annual operating cost of heating your home with Flameless Electric Heat will remain within 10% of a specific dollar-and-cents figure each year for the first three full years of operation.

Q. Who makes this guarantee?

A. Either your builder or electric heating contractor who has installed the heating system in the new home you buy, or build.

Q. Okay, but how does the guarantee work?

A. When you buy or build a new home with Flameless Electric Heat installed, you examine and approve the written operating Cost Guarantee before you make the purchase. The Guarantee will contain the estimated yearly cost of heating your home the Flameless way. The cost is clearly stated in a specific dollar-and-cents figure. When you buy the home, the Guarantee goes into effect. If any time during the first three full years you occupy your home, your yearly heating cost exceeds the estimated figure by more than 10%, your builder or electric heating contractor will reimburse you. He will also make any adjustments or changes that may be required to make your flameless heat system operate perfectly. Remember: The Guarantee is in writing... You're fully protected.

Q. And what about Electric Heat Costs?

A. Today, the cost of Flameless Electric Heat in the areas served by The Electric Company is actually 33% lower than it was in 1957. When you combine the outstanding clean comfort, complete convenience and flexibility of electric heat, with the newest low rates, it adds up to the best possible investment in home comfort you can make.

ELECTRIC HOME HEATING COST CAN BE GUARANTEED BY YOUR BUILDER!

Q. How do I know my builder or electric heat contractor will pay my claim?

A. Your builder or electric heating contractor is insured by The American Home Assurance Company. The policy covers the three years of your electric heating operating cost with a maximum liability of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) for the period.

Q. But what if I want to build a home with electric heat?

A. It's even more simple. Your builder or electric heating contractor makes the Operating Cost Guarantee a part of his specifications. You examine and approve it before you act. You know exactly how much your electric heating will cost and you'll be surprised how exceedingly low it is!

Q. How can a builder or heating contractor guarantee heating costs when weather varies so much?

125 Attend Annual Meeting Of Pickaway Farm Bureau

Approximately 125 people were on hand Saturday night for the 46th annual meeting of the Pickaway County Farm Bureau.

President Loring Leist opened the session with a welcome to the group and reminded the members that this was their meeting and to feel free to discuss the issues.

Entertainment was provided by a choral group of boys from Washington Twp. School under the direction of Mrs. Ralph Dunkel. Paul Dunkel led the members in group singing before the business session.

HAROLD FURNISS, treasurer of the organization gave a detailed financial accounting of the 1966 year.

Mrs. Rodney Ward, secretary, read the minutes of the last annual meeting.

Richard Hansen, chairman of the nominating committee, handled the election of new trustees to the Farm Bureau Board. Elected as trustee for three year terms were: Harry Kern, Jackson Twp.; Cecil Ward, Scioto Twp.; Harry Sharrett, Pickaway Twp.; Carl Schein, Deer Creek Twp. Elected as delegates to the 1967 Ohio Farm Bureau Annual Meeting were: T. M. McFadden and Mrs. Ralph Fisher.

Dick Tootle, chairman of the Policy Development Committee handled a very interesting discussion of the organization's proposed policies for the coming year. Several amendments were introduced and after having thoroughly discussed each resolution, the members passed all by a unanimous vote.

The featured speaker of the evening was Morris Allton, Director of Public Affairs for the Ohio Farm Bureau. Allton spoke about the changes taking place in today's agriculture and told how farmers today only number 3 per cent of the population yet control 7 per cent of the land. He climaxed his talk by adding that many changes are taking place on the farm and the Ohio Farm Bureau is constantly upgrading their programs to keep pace with the change.

Harry Kern and Robert A. Jones, co-chairmen of the Code of Regulations Committee, presented information in regard to several code changes. One pertained to raising the dues of the local organization from $15 to $20 annually and the other was in regard to a date for annual meetings. Both of these code changes were approved by the members.

At the conclusion of the business session a drawing was held for an electric knife that was donated by the Nationwide Insurance agents. Recipient of the prize was Arthur Leist.

Pickaway FB Proposes Legislation

The Pickaway County Farm Bureau passed 14 resolutions recommending legislation on a local, state and national level.

The Farm Bureau members went on record as favoring county wide zoning and a comprehensive study of water and sewage needs of the county.

They recommended a telephone survey be made to determine if Laurelville and Ashville area subscribers desired extended area service. The FB group also recommended the Pickaway County Commissioners take action to establish rural house numbering. The County granges were commended for building the 4-H and Grange Building at the Fair grounds.

On the state level, the local Farm Bureau recommends Ohio have Eastern Standard Time throughout the state, urged the general Assembly appropriate adequate funds for effective control of blackbirds, recommended a continued study be made towards a state income tax, urged the present 10-mill limitation remain as is, recommended the state maintain all highways leading to state parks lakes and recreation areas, urged the Ohio Farm Bureau support any project which will bring about better compliance with highway litter laws.

National programs which the local group recommends include a recommendation that the United States Department of Agriculture give soft red winter wheat equal treatment with other wheat in export, recommended there be more "teeth" in the World Bank for setting trade payments from other countries and recommended that the federal funds be appropriated to control blackbirds.

Alliance Wants Land Vacated

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — The Federal Alliance of Land Grants, which claims that 500,000 acres of federal land in northern New Mexico belong to its members, says it will serve eviction papers on the U.S. Forest Service.

The alliance's president, Reyes Tijerina, said Monday that lawyer Jerry Noll would draw up the papers ordering the Forest Service to vacate the land in the Carson National Forest near Albuquerque.

Richard Fowler, attorney for the Forest Service, said "we would have to see their papers first and then respond with whatever action we deemed proper."

Alliance members, most of Spanish-American heritage, claim the land belongs to them under the 1848 treaty of Guadalupe-Hidalgo which ended the U.S. Mexican War.

Columbus Police Press Lead In 1962 Slaying of Coed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Their initial enthusiasm was somewhat tempered, but Columbus police were betting a first-degree murder warrant today they finally had their answers to a slaying that had stymied them for four years.

Two detectives took the warrant to Oklahoma City with orders to question thoroughly the ex-convict who police said Monday volunteered a remarkable knowledge of unpublished circumstances in the Sept. 20, 1962, slaying of Mary Margaret Andrews.

Miss Andrews, a 19-year-old Columbus Business University coed from Winterville, a Steubenville suburb, was fatally shot in the head in a garage. Police said she evidently had been subjected to an unnatural sex act.

Hundreds of possible suspects have been questioned about the slaying that shocked the Buckeye capital.

Judge Places Two on Probation

Two men have been placed on probation by Judge William Ammer of Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

Gene E. Holman, Columbus, was placed on probation for three years after changing an original plea of innocent to guilty in an indictment for grand larceny.

William A. Jones, Fourth Ave. was fined $200 and costs for second degree manslaughter. The fine was suspended and he was placed on probation for one year. Jones entered a plea of not guilty to the accusation and waived his rights to a jury trial. The court found him guilty of the charge that came as the result of an auto accident.

One, questioned several times, is now serving a sentence in Ohio Penitentiary as a habitual criminal after confessing robberies but denying the murder.

Then Herbert A. Golightly, 26, of Dallas, Tex., was arrested over the weekend at Oklahoma City on a forgery charge—and, police say, blurted out that he and the Ohio prisoner were involved in the killing.

Columbus Police Chief Robert Baus said replies Golightly gave to questions posed by Oklahoma authorities at Columbus officers prompting indicated he had knowledge about the slaying which had not been made public.

The warrant was obtained. Hopes waned a bit, however, when it was learned Golightly had volunteered information about another slaying, in Arizona, which turned out to have been committed while he was in custody.

Word was that Golightly would waive extradition to Ohio, if today's questioning proved basis for bringing him here to face the murder charge.

Meantime, Baus said investigators had not established whether Golightly, with a police record in Dallas and Denton, Tex., Hobbs, N.M., and Huntsville, Ala., and the Ohio Penitentiary prisoner actually had any connection.

There was no record on Golightly here.

Big Tidal Waves Are Considered Sea Monsters

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The tidal wave, or tsunami, is a sea monster that can stalk the ocean at speeds up to 500 miles an hour.

Today, fear of tidal waves generated alarms across thousands of miles of coastal areas on the Pacific basin — with good reason. A wave can strike as if from a calm ocean, but leave in its wake battering ram destruction of life and property.

The deadly wave usually starts near undersea earthquakes and can travel thousands of miles across the ocean to batter far distant shores. Authorities say waves can range from a few inches in height to over 100 feet.

Observers in Hawaii, where a tidal wave devastated the Hilo business district in 1961 taking 62 lives, said the harbor suddenly emptied of water. Then a roaring wall of water returned and kept going inland to strike homes and businesses.

Johnson Makes No Promise On Manila Session Outcome

HONOLULU (AP)—President Johnson island hops farther across the Pacific today after insisting that the Manila conference will produce neither new strategy for the war in Viet Nam nor a spectacular peace formula.

Johnson, still five days from Manila on his 29,000-mile Asian trip, was heading from Hawaii to New Zealand via Pago Pago, in American Samoa.

The President and his wife got a rousing reception Monday in Honolulu. Tens of thousands—many of them young people—jammed miles of downtown streets in a friendly colorful greeting. The state's delighted Democratic governor, John A. Burns, gave an unrestrained crowd estimate of 400,000.

Johnson responded in typical fashion, hopping out of his car at least a score of times to shake hands and, when staying inside, shouting through loudspeakers mounted inside the trunk, "Aloha, good to see you."

Even while traveling in the welcome, however, the President made clear his attention was on Manila and the Viet Nam war.

In two formal speeches in Hawaii, he went out of his way to discourage high hopes for his Oct. 24-25 meeting in the Philippines with leaders of six other countries fighting alongside the United States in Viet Nam.

At the East-West Center on the University of Hawaii campus, with several score antiwar placards hoisted above the crowd, Johnson said:

"I want my fellow countrymen to know that we are taking with us no magical wands and no instant solution."

Earlier, arriving at Honolulu International Airport, Johnson discarded much of his prepared speech and read another which said:

"We do not expect to pull any rabbits out of any hats at Manila."

Without getting specific, Johnson said, "Some have predicted Manila." He said that some this or that will happen in Manila." He said that some have forecast the sessions will produce "a new strategy of war or come forth with some spectacular formula for peace."

Johnson will be the first American president to visit American Samoa, a group of tiny islands in the South Seas that have been U.S. territory since 1899.

They fly from there to a New Zealand air station at Ohae whose runway is big enough to accommodate the presidential jet. Prime Minister Keith J. Holyoake will meet them and take them aboard a New Zealand air force DC6 to the capital at Wellington.

The New York Daily news reported from Saigon that it had been told the President would visit U.S. troops in Viet Nam on his way from Manila to Thailand. The report said preliminary planning of arrangements and security measures had begun.

The President's party refused to comment on the report.

NOW! ELECTRIC HOME HEATING COST CAN BE GUARANTEED BY YOUR BUILDER!

HERE ARE SOME ANSWERS TO QUESTIONS ON THIS SENSATIONAL GUARANTEE PLAN:

Q. Exactly what do you mean by a Guaranteed Electric Heating Plan?

A. It will guarantee that the annual operating cost of heating your home with Flameless Electric Heat will remain within 10% of a specific dollar-and-cents figure each year for the first three full years of operation.

Q. Who makes this guarantee?

A. Either your builder or electric heating contractor who has installed the heating system in the new home you buy, or build.

Q. Okay, but how does the guarantee work?

A. When you buy or build a new home with Flameless Electric Heat installed, you examine and approve the written operating Cost Guarantee before you make the purchase. The Guarantee will contain the estimated yearly cost of heating your home the Flameless way. The cost is clearly stated in a specific dollar-and-cents figure. When you buy the home, the Guarantee goes into effect. If any time during the first three full years you occupy your home, your yearly heating cost exceeds the estimated figure by more than 10%, your builder or electric heating contractor will reimburse you. He will also make any adjustments or changes that may be required to make your flameless heat system operate perfectly. Remember: The Guarantee is in writing... You're fully protected.

Q. And what about Electric Heat Costs?

A. Today, the cost of Flameless Electric Heat in the areas served by The Electric Company is actually 33% lower than it was in 1957. When you combine the outstanding clean comfort, complete convenience and flexibility of electric heat, with the newest low rates, it adds up to the best possible investment in home comfort you can make.

Q. How do I know my builder or electric heat contractor will pay my claim?

A. Your builder or electric heating contractor is insured by The American Home Assurance Company. The policy covers the three years of your electric heating operating cost with a maximum liability of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00) for the period.

Q. But what if I want to build a home with electric heat?

A. It's even more simple. Your builder or electric heating contractor makes the Operating Cost Guarantee a part of his specifications. You examine and approve it before you act. You know exactly how much your electric heating will cost and you'll be surprised how exceedingly low it is!

Q. How can a builder or heating contractor guarantee heating costs when weather varies so much?

A. The builder or electric heating contractor bases his guaranteed estimate figure on official area weather data, as well as his electric heating experience and skill. The estimating of annual heating costs is not a new concept, but guaranteeing an estimate is a bold new step.

Q. Why a three-year guarantee?

A. Frankly, to dramatically prove that progressive builders and Flameless Heating contractors have complete faith in the economy and dependability of their product. Standard guarantees usually are made for only a few months, or a year, to cover initial operation or break-in period. The Flameless Heat Guarantee is designed to demonstrate the year-in, year-out dependability and economy of the product.
